BOULANGISM.

Naquet, the General's Former Admirer, Makes Further Revelations.

The League With Monarchists and Their Contribution to the Fund.

Russia's Iron Rule in the Baltic Provinces—Irritation at the Close Relations Between Austria and Germany—The Coming International Labor Congress at Brussels—Alarm Among Welsh Tin-Plate Workers—Irish Dynamiters in Canada—The Revelations of a Strolling Actor—Threatened Strike on the Street Car Lines of Vienna—Heavy Gales on the North British Coast—Foreign News.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—M. Naquet, who for a long time was one of Gen. Boulanger's most trusted supporters, but who, at a recent meeting of the constituency which he represents in the Chamber of Deputies, announced that he had abandoned the General, has made further revelations regarding the inside history of the Boulangist movement. M. Naquet says that the resources of the Boulangist party having become exhausted through the extravagance of the General, the Royalists, who were secretly supporting the Boulangist movement, collected a fund amounting to 5,000,000 francs, which it was their intention should be devoted to securing the election of Boulangist candidates for the Chamber of Deputies. Half of the fund was, according to M. Naquet, contributed by the Count of Paris. Of the whole amount given by the Royalists, the Boulangist party secured only 1,300,000 francs, the remainder being diverted by Gen. Boulanger from the uses to which the subscribers meant it should be applied.

The Canadian Dynamiters.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Oct. 18.—In connection with reviving public interest in the exploits of "Red Jim" McDermott and the Irish dynamiters, it may not be amiss to mention that quite a little sensation was created at the Provincial Department at Quebec last week by the appearance of a young man in the garb of a laborer who declared that he knew who blew up the Parliament buildings at Quebec in October, 1884, and that he was anxious to warn the authorities against another attempt. Being sane and sober, he was admitted to the office of Commissioner of Public Works Garnea, who heard his story and sent him to the Police Magistrate, Judge Chaveau, who also heard and took notes of his tale. The young man said he was Adelard Filteau of St. Roumauld d'Etchemin, a village on the opposite shore of the St. Lawrence, a few miles above Quebec, where he resides with his parents, when not pursuing his calling of a strolling acrobat. His tale was to the effect that about three weeks ago while at Bout de Lile, near Montreal, another young man in his employ named Alphouse Roberge, belonging to Three Rivers, who has since cleared out, boasted to him that it was he who had blown up the Parliament buildings at Quebec, and that before the snow flew this winter he intended to repeat the attempt, and to be more successful this time. Filteau said Roberge must have been about 16 years old when the Parliament buildings were blown up, that he gave no reason to him for his alleged crime or for its intended repetition, and that he, Filteau, was actuated merely by a wish to prevent the destruction of a fine building. He also states that both he and Roberge were sober at the time of the conversation. Filteau was dismissed with a promise that he would be sent for when required.

Russian Rule in the Baltic Provinces.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The irritation aroused in Russia by the cordial and closer relations between Austria and Germany is being felt in its effects in the Baltic Provinces of the Russian Empire, where the Czar's officers are making every effort to stamp out the German sentiment and substitute Russian for German education, both secular and religious. The latest move is to deprive the Lutheran pastors of their stipends, on the pretense that some of them are insufficiently loyal, throwing the pastors for support entirely on the contributions of their flocks and insuring the abandonment of many of the poorer and remote churches, where the congregations would be unwilling to support a minister among them. The German language is also prohibited on public signs over shops, and its teaching forbidden in the schools. One Lutheran pastor, named Grimm, having been twice convicted of reflecting on the orthodox religion in his sermons, and now convicted a third time, has been sentenced to deportation for an indefinite period to Siberia. Notwithstanding all these measures the people continue strong in their German attachments.

Will Boycott Russian Products.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The Russian Government is sending workmen to various countries to obtain situations and pick up all the information they can that may be useful to Russian manufacturers and exporters. The Welsh tin plate makers have taken alarm at this and have given warning that if the secrets of their trade are discovered in this way and made use of by the Russians they will import no more sheet iron from Russia and will boycott all Russian products so far as possible. Russia's sheet iron export to Wales is far more important than any tin plate export that she could hope to build up in competition with the Welsh.

The Socialist Congress.

HALLE, Oct. 18.—At to-day's session of the Socialist congress it was decided to nominate candidates to contest all the elections held in the city of Berlin. It was also decided to hold a Socialist labor demonstration on the 1st of May next and thereafter on the Sunday following the 1st of May in each year. A resolution was adopted declaring that Herr Werner, whose loyalty to the Socialists has been questioned, was incapable of representing the party.

Severe Gale on the North British Coast.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—A severe gale prevails along the North British coast. The vessels of the British fleet, which were anchored off Scarborough, were compelled to put to sea this morning to avoid being driven on shore, leaving behind the Admiral and 240 of the officers and men who went ashore last night for the purpose of attending a ball given by the Mayor of Scarborough. The officers who spent the night in dancing found to their dismay this morning that, owing to the fierce wind and heavy surf, they could not embark for the purpose of rejoining their ships. After several futile attempts, in one of which three seamen were washed overboard, all hopes of reaching the vessels were given up.

No Prejudice Against Turkey.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—At his interview with the Sultan of Turkey Mr. Shaw Lefevre, the noted Liberal Member of Parliament, assured that monarch that the Liberals had no prejudice against Turkey and smoothed away the irritation which the Sultan has lately exhibited against certain Liberal newspapers for their attitude on the Armenian question.

To Demand Payment of American Claims.

LISBON, Oct. 18.—The Commerce de Portugal publishes a letter from Berne in which it is stated that a fleet of American war vessels will shortly arrive at Lisbon and demand payment of all American claims in connection with the construction of the Delagoa Bay Railroad.

Reviewing the Birchall Trial.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Oct. 18.—The report of Justice McMahon and notes of the evidence taken in the Birchall trial have been received at the Department of State. The Judge in his summary quotes in full the famous letter of Birchall to Col. Benwell, evidently laying great stress upon it. The whole case will, as usual, be reviewed at length.

Murderer Day.

WELLAND, Ontario, Oct. 18.—Day, the murderer, is still hopeful of having his sentence changed when his case is argued before the judges in Toronto. He is now closely guarded in solitary confinement and his meals are prepared by the jail officials and not sent from a hotel as formerly.

Fresh Proposals to France.

TORONTO, Ontario, Oct. 18.—A special cable dispatch from London, says: There is good authority for stating that Lord Salisbury is about to make fresh proposals to France respecting the Newfoundland question on the basis of free access by French fishermen to Newfoundland's bait supply in return for the abrogation of French bounties. It is possible the repeal of the bait law will also form the basis of a mission to Washington.

Seizure of Fruit.

MONTREAL, Oct. 18.—The customs authorities this morning made a seizure of fruit on the ground of undervaluation. The amount involves about $4,000. The matter will be referred to the authorities at Ottawa.

Renounced Their Faith.

ODESSA, Oct. 18.—Two hundred Hebrew students in this city have renounced their faith and become Christians to avoid expulsion from their universities in accordance with the enforcement of the anti-Jewish law.

Foreign News in Brief.

The English trades unions have failed to give any substantial support to the striking furnacemen in Scotland, and the latter are disposed to return to work at the employers' terms.

Paris papers comment on the presence of the Count Dillon in America at the same time as the Count of Paris, for whom Count Dillon acted in giving assistance to the schemes of Gen. Boulanger.

The British Admiral at Zanzibar has been ordered to destroy Vitu and make unsparing war on the inhabitants unless all the murderers of the German traders are surrendered, to be turned over to the Germans for punishment.

The employes of the street car lines in Vienna have announced their intention to strike to-morrow (Sunday) unless granted certain concessions. It is not believed that the demands will be complied with.

The National Zeitung says: "The German Government is about to consider a method to effect a reform in sugar taxation, and that the scheme involves a fresh reduction in the export bounties."

A dispatch from Rome to the Dublin Freeman's Journal says that the Most Rev. Thomas Nuity, Bishop of Meath, and Dr. Lyster have had an interview with the Pope in regard to the distress in Ireland.

A CITY IN MOURNING.

Preparations for the Burial of Justice Miller's Remains at Keokuk.

KEOKUK, Io., Oct. 18.—The city is in mourning to-day as a tribute of respect to the memory of its late distinguished townsman, Associate Justice Miller of the Supreme Court. Business is entirely suspended, all the public buildings, as well as many private ones, are draped in black and flags at half mast are flying throughout the city. The remains arrived here in a special car over the Burlington road at 9½ o'clock under an escort of a committee of citizens which met the train at Burlington at 7:30 o'clock this morning. Upon the arrival of the train the remains were conveyed to the Federal Court building, where they are now lying in state, the Keokuk Rifles, the Sons of Veterans and Terrence Post, G. A. R., acting as a guard of honor. Shortly after 2 o'clock the funeral service will be read in the Unitarian Church. The Governor and State officers, judges of the State Supreme Court, the judges of the United States and County Courts and other judicial officers, the members of the bar of Justice Miller's circuit before his elevation to the Supreme Bench, the civic and military organizations, the various labor organizations, the Grand Army and other semi-military organizations and the school children of the city will take part in the funeral procession, which from present appearances will be fully two miles in length. The services in the Unitarian Church will be very simple.

Fell Dead From His Horse.

LEBANON, Pa., Oct. 18.—William Budd, a prominent farmer and President of the Farmers' Alliance in this (Boone) County, started Wednesday night for this city to prevent his wife from applying for a divorce. Word reached him before he arrived here that she had made the application, whereupon he dropped from his horse dead.

Pat Sheedy Arrested.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Pat Sheedy, who was indicted by the Saratoga Grand-jury on Wednesday, for maintaining a gambling house at Morrissey's old stand, now called the Chicago Club-house, was arrested in this city yesterday. He will be taken to Saratoga.

THE PRESIDENT'S PLANS.

THREE THINGS WHICH MR. HARRISON HAS RESOLVED TO DO.

An Extra Session of Congress to Be Called and Attorney-General Miller Will Be Placed on the Supreme Bench—To-Day's Executive Appointments—The Dick Duncan Case—Washington News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 18.—It is generally believed in official circles here that the President has resolved upon three things, and as far as present indications go he will adhere to them.

1. He intends to call Congress in extra session early in November.
2. He will nominate Attorney-General Miller to the vacancy in the Supreme Court.
3. He will make Wm. H. Taft, the present Solicitor-General of the Department of Justice, the head of the Department. Mr. Taft's father was Attorney-General during Gen. Grant's last term.

Places for Anxious Missourians.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 18.—Some of the prominent Republicans here are beginning to wonder why the President has not named successors to prominent Democrats, who left some of the best offices within the gift of the Administration. While the resignations of the Democrats left these vacancies in office things have been conducted by the subordinate left in charge with such skill as to in no way embarrass the Government business. With all the clamor that was early made for place some of the offices referred to have gone begging. The first of these, the Superintendency of Foreign Mails, might have retained Nicholas Bell of St. Louis at its head until now, for all the benefit the Republican office-seekers have received from it. Mr. Bell's former assistant, Col. Brooks, is acting.

Then follows the chiefship of the Secret Service Division of the Treasury. This important office is filled by the detail of Col. J. J. Brooks, a New York customs officer, who formerly held the place. He is "acting chief." There are three applicants for it, and Col. Brooks is not desirous of it as a permanent berth.

It has been some time since the appointment clerk of the Treasury resigned. This is the great political office of any administration. It is filled by an acting clerk. So there are some places "equally as good" awaiting Missouri applicants who can command influence sufficient to reach.

The Spanish Minister.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 18.—Emilio de Murnaga, the Spanish Minister to this country, was somewhat surprised to-day when questioned as to the truth of the story that he had been recalled by his Government. "Many changes are impending in the personnel of the diplomatic corps in Spain," he replied, "but I have not yet received a letter of recall, although I would not be at all surprised to receive such summons. During my stay in Washington I have been treated very kindly by all of the officials with whom I have been brought in contact and I am rather proud of the modus vivendi which I negotiated with Mr. Bayard during the last administration. Secretary Blaine is following in the footsteps of his predecessor regarding the benefits of reciprocity and this is very acceptable to my Government. Of course, we want compensation for any concessions which we may be called on to make under the provisions of the McKinley bill, and reciprocity will be a good thing for both nations."

Senor Murnaga was accredited to this country as the Spanish Minister on April 5, 1886, but he was not a stranger in Washington, having graduated at Georgetown College many years ago. For upwards of thirty years he has been in diplomatic departments of the Spanish Government in the Courts at Vienna, Berlin and London, as well as Washington.

The Dick Duncan Case.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 18.—Ex-Attorney-General Garland has taken charge of the celebrated Dick Duncan habeas corpus case, succeeding Gen. Roger A. Pryor, who was obliged to give it up at the time of his elevation to the bench. An effort will be made to have the case advanced on the docket of the Supreme Court and brought to a speedy trial, as a number of executions are held in abeyance pending the determination of the Supreme Court of the validity of the criminal code of Texas involved in the Duncan case. J. W. McMinn, Duncan's counsel, is in the city, and the case is ready for argument so soon as the Supreme Court will set a day for its consideration.

Huston on Harrison.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—In an interview published here to-day, Treasurer Huston says that if Indiana goes Republican in the State election this fall Harrison's chances for renomination are worthless. Mr. Huston believes that if the State goes Republican the President will not be heard of in the National Convention, while if it is carried by the Democrats Harrison will be renominated beyond a doubt. In explanation of these statements Mr. Huston says that an Indiana man has no chance for the nomination unless it is clear that Indiana is a doubtful State. Mr. Huston said that he believed Indiana would go Republican this fall by a plurality larger than that of 1888.

Census Figures.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 18.—The census of the United States is now complete, with the exception of nine supervisors' districts, one each in Maryland, Oregon, Minnesota, Florida, Virginia, South Dakota, and three in Missouri. Most of these delays are caused by recounts. Such is the case in Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul, St. Louis and one Maryland district. Supt. Porter says he will be able to give the total population of the United States Nov. 1.

Extra Session Discussed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 18.—It is believed that the President has not yet come to a conclusion as to the advisability of issuing a call for an extra session of Congress, as he is urging all Congressmen who call on him to express their individual views upon the subject. A prominent Congressman, who argued against the extra session, is inclined to think the President favors a session immediately after the Congressional election.

Section 8 of the Tariff Act.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 18.—Secretary Windom has informed Secretary Blaine that the statement required by sec. 8 of the tariff act for manufactured merchandise consigned for sale in the United States cannot be signed by any person but the manufacturer of the merchandise, but the signature, if properly attested, need not be signed in the presence of the consular officer.

Appointed by the President.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 18.—The President made the following appointments to-day: Joseph Teeters of Nebraska, to be Receiver of Public Moneys at Lincoln, Neb.; Herman Rhodes of New Mexico to be agent for the Indians of the Mescalero Agency, in New Mexico.

Admiral Porter Improving.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 18—Admiral Porter is reported by his family to be gradually but surely improving. He slept well during the night and takes a sufficient quantity of nourishment with apparent relish.

The Gower Case Settled.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 18.—The suit brought by Lillian Norton Gower, known on the operatic stage as Mme. Nordica, for $200,000 against George Lewis Gower, a Providence lawyer, has been settled. It was dismissed by the Supreme Court of the State of Washington yesterday, Gower paying $40,000 to Mme. Nordica and she signing through her attorneys a release. The suit was begun to secure a part of the alleged estate of her husband, Fred A. Gower.

CAUSED BY DESPONDENCY.

A Boston Expressman Shoots His Wife and Mortally Wounds Himself.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 18.—At 6 o'clock this morning Daniel H. Wilson, aged 43, residing at 703 Leverett street, shot his wife, Annie, in the left temple while she was in bed. The bullet penetrated the skull, causing instant death. He then turned the revolver upon himself and sent a bullet through his left breast, inflicting a probably fatal wound. He was a driver for the Adams Express Co., and had always faithfully performed his duty. Two weeks ago he was taken ill, and had been confined to his house ever since. It is thought that despondency caused by his illness was the cause of his act.

Wilson was taken to the Hospital, where it is thought he has a slight chance for recovery. One of the shots penetrated his left lung, but the other struck on a rib and glancing off buried itself in the fleshy part of his side. At the hospital Wilson made a brief statement. He said: "I woke up suddenly about 7 o'clock and seeing my wife lying by my side, I seized my revolver from under the pillow and under the impulse of the moment placed it against her left temple and fired. I think I must have been crazy. I acted under the impulse of the moment. Then seeing what I had done I decided to kill myself."

His wife was about 30 years old.

Found Dying in His Room.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 18.—Cassius M. Mock, keeper of a livery stable in Washington Court-House, O., was found in room 42 of the Star Hotel to-day at noon gasping for breath and died in less than an hour, in spite of the efforts of the physcian who was called. It was found he had taken morphine. His friends say there was no motive for suicide, as he has a good business and an excellent family, but that he had been attending the races and drinking heavily, and took morphine to counteract the effects.

POLITICAL.

The Ohio Lower House Refuses to Pass the Senate Compromise Bill.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 18.—The House this morning, after a stormy session, refused to pass the Senate compromise bill giving the Governor power to remove the members of the Cincinnati Board of Improvements and providing for a new board with election next April. The vote stood 52 yeas to 53 nays. Fifty-eight votes are required to pass a bill. Some of the Hamilton County members voted against the bill.

Hatch and Harrington.

LA GRANGE, Mo., Oct. 18.—W. H. Hatch, Congressman from the First District and Democratic nominee for re-election, and F. M. Harrington, Republican nominee, discussed political issues yesterday at the La Grange Fair. This was the closing attraction and the crowd was immense.

A Democratic Deadlock.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 18.—At Falmouth, Ky., the Democratic Congressional Convention proceeded to the [illegible] ballot with no nomination. Hallam, Dickerson and Berry each had 321 votes.

LABOR.

The International Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 18.—The International Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers held another session to-day, but as the matters under consideration were questions affecting the organization, the public were excluded. The delegates will continue in session until the business of the secretary is disposed of. The election of officers will be the last business of the convention.

Furniture Workers of America.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 18.—The Furniture Workers of America have passed a resolution declaring that it shall be the duty of the Executive Board to have an understanding with the Brotherhood of Carpenters by which the Furniture Workers shall support the carpenters in case of a strike and vice versa. It was decided that henceforth each local union shall fix the minimum wages to be paid in every shop, and that annually a report shall be submitted to the Executive Board of the wages paid, etc. All local unions were instructed to oppose the contract and piece-work systems, and not to work under these systems if it could possibly be avoided. Action was also taken which will not allow members of the union to work for subcontractors. Members of the union were also prohibited from working in shops where the piece-work system is inaugurated after this time.

A Damaging Gale.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—A heavy gale did much damage to small shipping in New York Bay yesterday besides causing the suspension of a great deal of traffic in the rivers and on the bay. Many small yachts along the shore of South Brooklyn were broken up by the force of the gale and a man named Thomas, who was trying to secure a couple of them that were adrift, was drowned by the upsetting of his boat. A fence was blown upon Jacob Bange and John Hartman in Williamburg. The fence was very long and heavy and Bange received fatal injuries, while Hartman was seriously hurt.

A Bond Jumper Caught.

Chief of Police Phil Deitsch of Cincinnati writes to Chief Harrigan under date of Oct. 10 to the effect that John Doolan, wanted in St. Louis, can be found in that city. Doolan jumped a $1,000 bond in the Court of Criminal Correction in September, 1888. He was charged with enticing a female, it being alleged that he was the father of the child of 16-year-old Emma Pierson. The case made a considerable scandal at the time on account of the charge made against the girl's stepfather. A notorious bondsman and livery stable keeper went security for Doolan, and when the defendant disappeared offered a reward of $25 for his apprehension. Doolan in March, 1889, was indicted by the Grand-jury, but could never be found. His bondsman now refuses to bring him back from Cincinnati, insisting that he has "fixed" the case.

Rickelman's Body Identified.

This morning Bernard Rickelman appeared at the Coroner's office and identified the body found yesterday afternoon under a raft at the foot of Salisbury street as the remains of his brother, August Rickelman. The deceased was a single man 24 years old and a laborer by occupation. He was last seen alive on Oct. 9, when he started for Long Lake, Ill., on a fishing trip. The brother this morning testified that the deceased had been quite sick for several months before and had been confined to the Alexian Brothers' Hospital. He became despondent and often said that if he did not thoroughly recover he would drown himself. No verdict has yet been returned in the case.

Wm. L. Scott Improving.

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 18.—The rumors that Hon. Wm. L. Scott had been given up by his physicians are entirely unfounded. Mr. Scott took his usual drive yesterday, and has been convalescent for several weeks. He will go to Washington as soon as he is strong enough to stand the journey.

A Stronger Stock Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The stock market was stronger this morning and prices rose during the day. The foreign markets were depressed, but there was a large amount of English money on the market seeking investment and prices rose in consequence.

A MAD HORSE DOCTOR.

LEOPOLD OTTOFY OBJECTS TO BEING CALLED A MANUFACTURER.

And Tries to Have Census-Enumerator Otto L. Dierberger Arrested for Classing Him as One—A Row in the Census Office and a Warrant Applied For.

A lively disagreement between one of Col. Bain's census enumerators and a veterinary surgeon, accused of being a manufacturer, has resulted in application being made to United States District Attorney Reynolds for a warrant, charging the enumerator with falsely representing himself to be a United States Marshal, empowered to make arrests.

The enumerator so charged is Otto L. Dierberger, whose killing of John Horn, an Englishman, on a Market street car some years ago, created a sensation owing to the peculiar nature of the quarrel leading to the fatal act, and Leopold Ottofy, a veterinary surgeon at 618 Manchester road. It seems that some bad feeling existed between the men, and that the present difficulty arose largely from that fact.

THE HORSE DOCTOR'S STORY.

Ottofy claims that Dierberger came to his place during the present week, and representing himself as a special agent of the Government, called for his return of business, etc., as a "manufacturer." Ottofy replied that he was not a manufacturer, but a veterinary surgeon. He says that Dierberger was very aggressive and overbearing, and that he was evidently anxious to provoke a difficulty. During the discussion as to Ottopy's business, hot words were used, and finally, it is said, Dierberger threw back his coat, displaying his special agent's badge, and threatened to place the veterinary surgeon under arrest. At this Ottofy grew indignant and dared Dierberger to arrest him, following him finally out of the office and insisting upon being arrested. Dierberger finally left, and Ottofy, growing more and more indignant, finally went down to United States District Attorney Reynolds' office and applied for a warrant for Dierberger's arrest on the grounds given above.

A "MIXER" OF MEDICINES.

Attorney Reynolds refused to issue the warrant, and Ottofy then went to Chief Special Agent Bain's office and made formal complaint against Dierberger. The latter was called up and told his story. He denied that he had threatened to arrest Ottofy, but insists that the veterinary surgeon is a manufacturer inasmuch as he mixes and sells certain preparations as medicines for horses. Dierberger said that he explained to Ottofy what constituted a "manufacturer," knowing that the latter came under the definition, but that Ottofy became angry and abusive and refused to talk to him. Dierberger says he told Ottofy that in refusing to answer his questions he was laying himself liable to arrest by a United States Marshal, but that he said no more in that connection. Dierberger, after leaving Ottofy's place, went into a certain drug store near by, and while there Ottofy came in and purchased certain drugs needed in his preparations. Dierberger followed him back to his place and saw him "mixing" one of the preparations which he sells. He then again tried to get Ottofy to make a return to the Census Office, but failed. Leaving the place again, Dierberger says he went into a saloon, and Ottofy followed him, abusing him in every way.

"Arrest me if you dare!" the infuriated horse doctor shouted. "I want you to arrest me!"

"I have no intention of doing so," replied the enumerator. "But I'm going to see that you make a return as a manufacturer."

Dierberger claims that Ottofy's anarchistic leanings prompted him to resist as he did, and that it was simply a matter of opposition to governmental supervision. Chief Special Agent Bain heard the charge, but no cation has as yet been taken.

CHASING A LUNATIC.

Armed With a Razor, He Defies the Power of a Sheriff's Posse.

CARROLLTON, Ill., Oct. 18.—A somewhat sensational, but very ridiculous affair, occurred on our streets this afternoon, in which Sheriff Powell, Deputy Sheriff Connole and Constables Hillis, Ashlock and English on the one side, and William Lee, an alleged lunatic, on the other, were conspicuous parties. A few days ago Lee manifested homicidal tendencies and was accordingly arrested and confined in our jail to await trial set for to-day. When brought out at an opportune moment he made a dash for liberty, brandishing a razor and threatening dire destruction. The terrified officer stood aghast. The Sheriff summoned a posse and the chase began. Down the streets and out into the fields sped the madman, striking right and left with his razor at all who opposed his flight, the Sheriff and posse with drawn clubs and revolvers following at a safe distance. Round and round they went over pastures, jumping fences and back into the city they came. Presently City Attorney Whitesides, totally unarmed, met the fugitive, who made a stroke with his razor, but was seized by the attorney, disarmed by him and then turned over to the paralyzed posse. Hundreds of citizens watched the chase.

A few years ago Lee fell from a fourth story in St. Louis and received permanent injuries internally, but of late has manifested a tendency toward insanity.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 18.—The Mayor has received a lengthy appeal from Houghton, Brown County, S. D., signed by A. C. Bartlett, J. H. Lewis, E. M. Piper, Samuel Johnston and B. Cumming. They say that the crops of Brown County have been a failure during the past three years and that the people are absolutely without food, fuel or clothing and ask the Mayor to appeal for aid in their behalf. Mayor Cregier will receive subscriptions of either money, clothing or provisions and have them sent to the committee named in the letter.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 18.—The British ship Hospodar has arrived from London after the longest trip on record, having been out for 174 days. The ship encountered a storm on the way from London and was dismasted. She finally arrived at Rio Janeiro in bad condition and remained some time for repairs. She left Valparaiso Aug. 5.

The steamer Towborn arrived yesterday from Guaymas bringing eleven of the crew of the wrecked British ship Selene, which went ashore at Santa Rosalio last month. The Captain was left at Guaymas, where he is endeavoring to dispose of the vessel.

A Rough Voyage.

ASTORIA, Ore., Oct. 18.—The American ship City of Philadelphia arrived to-day, 216 days from New York. The ship left New York March 15. On May 13 the vessel encountered a gale and her rudder was carried away. She managed, however, to reach Rio Janeiro, where repairs were made. When off Cape Horn the vessel encountered a fierce snow and windstorm which lasted forty days.

HE KEPT HIS PROMISE.

HOW MR. CHARLES TODD DEFENDED THE RIGHTS OF A FRIEND'S WIDOW.

The Death of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Hynes of New York Brings Out a Remarkable Story of Chivalry on the Part of a St. Louis Gentleman—A Trust Which Was Faithfully Fulfilled.

A tale of remarkable chivalry on the part of a well-known St. Louis gentleman has just been brought out by the report of the death of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Hynes in New York, and the revival of the history of one of the most celebrated cases ever brought in a St. Louis court.

Advices received from New York gave the story of the death of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Hynes, the result of a surgical operation performed in the New York Hospital Wednesday night. Mrs. Hynes was a woman with a peculiar and startling history, the most interesting portion of which is familiar to St. Louisans. A web of romance is woven about her marriage with a wealthy young St. Louisan, her early widowhood and her subsequent legal difficulties, through which she was championed by a well-known resident of this city who was a life-long friend of her husband, and who finally, by the greatest indefatigability and extreme devotion to the trust of his deceased friend, won her cause, although at the cost of laying the foundation for an insidious disease which carried him to his grave before his time, and after expenditure of a considerable sum of money

MR. TODD'S CHIVALRY.

This man was Mr. Charles Todd, one of the best known men in St. Louis. He was a warm friend of William Rose Hynes, the son of a wealthy land speculator, who at his death left his property to his son. In 1871 Wm. Hynes removed to New York and shortly afterwards took a trip to Europe. While on board the ocean steamer he became acquainted and smitten with a young English girl named Mary Elizabeth Willis. The attraction was mutual and Hynes insisted on an immediate marriage. Miss Willis demurred but finally consented, and the ceremony was performed by the master of the vessel. Then to make matters more sure the service was repeated in France by a minister, according to the laws of that country, and within ten days of the ceremony on board the vessel the marriage was again performed according to the English laws, in London. The couple made their home in London and in 1875 Mr. Hynes met with an accident which caused his death. He sent for his friend, Mr. Todd, and left in his care his widow and two sons. Legal difficulties arose over the settlement of the estate, but with the assistance of her husband's friend the young widow won her suit and came into the possession of her property.

The case is one of the most romantic which has ever come up in this city, and the story is a very interesting one. Mrs. Heriman Clark, daughter of Mr. Todd, was seen this morning by a POST-DISPATCH reporter, and told the story of her father's connection with the case as follows:

"My father and Mr. Hynes were close friends, and they had the most implicit confidence and trust in each other. The request of one was the law of the other, and the respect and friendship which they bore each other amounted almost to a religion.

"Father was traveling in Europe in 1875 and while at Paris he received a message from his friend requesting his immediate attendance in London, as Mr. Hynes had met with an accident. Father hastily prepared for the journey and lost no time in arriving at London, where he found his friend dying from lockjaw. Mr. Hynes handed my father a package of papers and was only able to say: 'Please see that my last wishes are carried out.' My father promised, even without knowing what he was requested to do, but an examination of the papers informed him as to the wishes of his friend. He had never known the exact relations between Mr. Hynes and the young woman and had never asked whether they were married or not, but the documents explained this and told of the three marriage ceremonies which had been performed. The promise which he had made was to do all in his power to secure for the widow and children their rights and the property to which they were entitled.

"My father did not hesitate to keep his promise. His word was sacred to him and he at once began to take the necessary steps to secure for the family of his friend their rights. They were without funds, but he supplied this want and secured the best legal counsel possible for the prosecuting of their claims. The deceased had left a will giving all his property to his wife and two children, but his relations in St. Louis endeavored to break the will. The fight was a long one and was carried from one court to another, his father advancing the funds for the cost of the suits, being assisted during the latter part by a mutual friend, Mr. Wm. Garrison.

"Mrs. Hynes finally won her case, but the work which he had done resulted in his illness. The intense worry and mental strain to which he had been subjected told on him and I think hastened his end. He had been unable to carefully attend to his personal affairs and suffered loss in consequence, but he had kept his word to his friend and carried out his dying request.

THE ESTATE IN HIS DEBT.

"A portion of the money which he had advanced was returned, but a considerable sum is still unpaid, although I am sure that if Mrs. Hynes had been able to continue to attend to her business affairs it would have all been paid. I understand that the two boys, who I hear are fine appearing, handsome youths, the older being 19 years of age, are being educated in some Eastern school, although I have never seen them. In spite of the attempts of those opposing Mrs. Hynes in the suits, I have never heard of the slightest thing against her being discovered; in fact her character was without reproach. She was a good, true woman, and I am sure deserved everything that was done for her. My father's memory is very dear to me, and I am glad that he did all in his power to aid those in distress."

The funeral of Mrs. Hynes occurred to-day in New York from Calvary Episcopal Church, and her remains were interred in Woodlawn Cemetery. The estate has never been thoroughly settled, but $250,000 of it is deposited in the Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., New York.

Diphtheria of the Eye.

BOSTON, Oct. 18.—A disease known as diphtheria of the eye has lately shown itself in Boston. In conversation with a leading eye specialist of this city a day or two ago it was learned that the disease has been a very rare one, but very few cases being known to him in the past eight or nine years in this county. These, however, have in nearly every instance resulted in the loss of the eye affected, and often the loss of the entire sight. The disease is precisely the same as throat diphtheria, and may be caused by coming into contact with the disease if the person's eyes have been sore or weak from any cause. At the present time there is one case under treatment at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary in this city. The patient is a little girl, but as it is a comparatively new case hopes are entertained that it may not result seriously, and that her present impaired sight may be restored.

SALE OF REVOLUTIONARY RELICS.

Articles of Household Furniture Said to Have Been Used by Washington.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 18.—The sale of Revolutionary relics at the old Brearly homestead was completed yesterday. Many were the comments of the women as to the truth of the statement concerning the Washington bed. One old lady was heard to express herself thus: "No, No; George Washington never slept in that bed. I know it."

"But why not?" asked her companion.

"Well, because he did not; I am positive he did not." She replied. "And why, pray?"

"Well, because he was too long," said the old lady in a triumphant tone. Every one expected the bed would bring an enormous price, but when auctioneer Williams announced that he would not vouch for the truthfulness of the statement that the Father of his country had slept in it, their expectations dropped. It was bought by Joseph Vansandt of Bristol for $1. The old curtains around the Washington bed sold for $4, an old spread said to be 200 years old sold for $8. Another one, equally old was bought by F. W. Moore for $1.25. The next article put up was the old quilt said to have been used by Gen. Washington when he was in this city. It is a fine piece of work containing the Declaration of Independence, the pictures of several of the signers and the coat of arms of the thirteen original States. This started at $5 and ran up to $15. The chest which is said to have come to this country in the Mayflower in 1620, was bought by Jos. Tantum for $3.75.

A CALL FOR AID.

Bishop Ryan Receives a Touching Letter From Connemara.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 18.—Bishop Ryan has sanctioned a call for a meeting in St. Stephen's Hall next Thursday evening, to help the famishing people of Ireland. The Bishop has received a letter from the Mother Superior of the Convent of Mercy in Clifden Connemara. It is as follows:

MY LORD—I humbly beg leave to address your Grace in the name of the destitute and suffering poor around us. The wisest heads agree that since the great famine in 1847 there has not been such a failure of the potato crop throughout Connemara as at present. It is heartrending to hear the accounts of those who seek relief at the convent. They strained every point and spent their all to sow the crop and in one night the dread disease crushed their hopes and plunged them into misery. I dread to look forward to the work before us, feeling our powerlessness to stem the tide of sorrow. I have often known parents to suffer extreme want themselves who could not bear to see their helpless little children endure the pangs of hunger. Will your Grace then help us and send us some aid until the gloom that hangs over our afflicted country is dispelled by the rising of brighter and better days? My Lord, do not refuse me in this sad hour of need and the prayers of the destitute and especially of the starving little ones will draw down God's blessing on yourself and the flock under your apostolic care.

A FATHER'S LOVE.

Pathetic Incident at the Bellevue Hospital in New York Yesterday.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—A man rushed past the guard at Bellevue Hospital gate yesterday, climbed the rough stone steps in desperate haste and when he reached Clerk Gleason's desk wildly asked for a physician. He carried in his arms, pressed close to his breast, a 2-year-old girl baby, wofully emaciated—dying, in truth, even then. The frenzied man—the baby's father, Joseph Metz, a poverty-stricken tailor—had walked the long distance from his home in Attorney street to Bellevue, seeking aid for Ida, his child. Dr. Paton, the head of the house staff, examined the baby. The case was hopeless. The little larynx was swollen and almost closed by disease. The father watched the physician's face intently, crying out in broken English, "Save her, doctor; save her—I love her so." In spite of Metz' remonstrances Dr. Paton ordered Ida to a ward. Her father was pacified by being told that the little one's life might be saved. For an hour he paced the long corridor restlessly, and then the news that the baby was dead was brought to him. The man was stunned by his grief, and it was only at sight of the pretty, pallid features of his child that relief came to him in tears. For the rest of the day he was allowed to remain near the body. The doctors ascertained the cause of death, made out a death certificate, and later the father was permitted to take the body to his squalid rooms at No. 80 Attorney street.

Novel Suit for Damages.

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 18.—The Supreme Court has filed an opinion in a novel case—a $10,000 damage suit brought by J. T. Young of Craven County against the Western Union Telegraph Co. Last year Young's wife went to Greenville, S. C., and became severely ill. Her husband was telegraphed for, but the telegram was not delivered until six days later. Meantime Mrs. Young died and was buried, Young not knowing of either fact till all was over. The Superior Court overruled the demurrer of the Western Union Telegraph Co. and held that the action was properly laid that the plaintiff was entitled to damages. The defendant, without waiting for the case to come to trial, appealed to the Supreme Court, which sustains the opinion of the Superior Court.

Bootless Raid on Chinese Gamblers.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—A hatless Chinaman scurried through Chinatown just after midnight and stopped for a second at door after door, whispered to the sentinels and hurried on. The gambling shops promptly shut up at his warning. When a platoon of police marched around from the Elizabeth Street Station ten minutes later and raided No. 25 Mott street for a beginning it was empty. So were all the other fan tan houses and two worse houses on Doyer street. The lookout had done his work well. Yesterday morning the tea chest signs appeared again and business was resumed by the gamblers.

SHOT DEAD.

The Fatal Result of a Drunken Man's Fight With a Policeman.

PITTSTON, Pa., Oct. 18.—J. W. Davis, a retired hotel keeper, was shot and almost instantly killed last evening by Wm. Weathers, a night patrolman. Davis had been drinking and was quarrelsome. He had been sitting in the Windsor Hotel drinking with some friends when suddenly he arose and started out to the front. Near the sidewalk he encountered a man whose name is at present unknown and began to ridicule his personal appearance. The latter took offense and they had some hot words, which drew a crowd to the place. Police Officer Weathers, on whose beat the scene was taking place, heard the disturbance and hurried to the place. Upon arriving there he placed Davis under arrest and attempted to take him to the lock-up. The latter, however, under the influence of drink, was obstreperous, and refused to accompany the officer. Davis was unusually large and muscular, and the policeman finding that he was unable to take care of his man called upon one of the crowd, Wm. Williams by name, to assist. The latter came and together they succeeded in dragging Davis along the walk nearly half a block until the Eagle Hotel was reached. Here during a slight relaxation of care on the part of the policeman, Davis drew from his pocket a large heavy "black jack" or billy and struck Weathers several severe blows on the head and was following it up with others when the officer drew from his pocket a brace of pistols and leveling them at his prisoner, fired four shots in quick succession. As the last bullet was fired both men fell to the ground, Davis in a dying condition with two bullets in his neck. He was carried into the hotel corridors, where in a few minutes he died. The policeman was unconscious when picked up and he, too, was taken into the hotel. A physician who examined his wounds reported them to be very dangerous, and the probabilities are that he may die. Weathers has been on the force for several years. He is First Sergeant of Company C, Ninth Regiment National Guard of Pennsylvania, and has always borne a good reputation. He has a family. Davis, the dead man, was also married, his wife being a member of one of the most highly respected and wealthiest families in town. Davis has of late been engaged in the buying and selling of coal lands.

Notable Surgical Operation.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18.—Modern surgery achieved a notable triumph at the Philadelphia Hospital when the Cæsarian operation was performed by Dr. Wm. E. Ashton, obstretrician at the institution, yesterday, and the case will go on record as a remarkable incident of medical science. The patient was a young colored woman of robust health. Both the child and the mother were saved and both are expected to recover. Dr. Ashton was assisted by Prof. Hirst, obstretrician of the University of Pennsylvania; Prof. Montgomery, gynecologist at the Medico-Chirurgical College; Miss Smith, chief nurse at the hospital, and her aides, Miss McClevey and Miss Burkhemer. Dr. Ashton finished the operation in the remarkably short time of twenty-one minutes and thirty seconds. The child (a female) has been placed in an incubator, a curious contrivance, resembling very much in appearance a child's ordinary bath tub. It is of tin, made with a section on each side for holding hot water and a compartment in the middle for the child. A uniform temperature of about 100 deg. is maintained in the compartment.

Battle With a Maniac.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 18.—Mack Andrews, a young grocery clerk, had an experience with a madman yesterday which he will never forget. He was walking over an unfinished bridge on the Ohio Railroad on the outskirts of the city, when he met a character known as "Crazy Pete," who has been heretofore regarded as a harmless idiot. Pete spoke to him when he passed the middle of the bridge, which is 105 feet above the water, and he did not answer, not wishing to converse with the man. The maniac then pounced upon him, and tried to throw him over the edge of the bridge, there being no guard rail on either side. A terrible struggle ensued, and for a time both were in imminent danger of going over the side. Andrews finally got away and climbed down the iron supports under the track, and was able a few minutes later to get back on the tracks and escape.

Kansas City's Latest Sensation—Burglars at Dixon—Missouri Notes.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 18.—The police yesterday arrested Ben Claire, a man about 35 years old, with a swarthy complexion and a heavy, shaggy black beard, and his companion, whom Claire said was his brother Arthur. The police had suspicions about the brother Arthur and he or she was taken to Matron Morris' quarters where she confessed that she was a girl. She said her name was Esthie Sandridge and her mother lived at Paris, Tex. Four years ago she ran away from home. She was 14 years old then, but she secured work as cook for a gang of section men. Ben Claire was one of them, and after they had known each other for two years they were married. They traveled all over Texas together then went to Alma, Kan. The wife had changed her garb because dressed as a man she could get work, and she boasted that she had cut corn in a field beside her husband, and done as much work as him, and had worked as a porter in a hotel and handled heavy trunks.

Claire was advised to provide suitable clothing and a home for his wife and settle down, and he said he would do so, but not here where their previous life had been exposed.

The Prohibition Law in That State Declared Inoperative by the Federal Court.

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 18.—Judge Phelps of Kansas City and Judge Foster of Topeka, in the United States Circuit Court here, handed down a decision to-day which declares the Kansas prohibition law inoperative under the "Wilson bill" passed at the last session of Congress.

The decision rules that under the Wilson bill the State Legislature will be compelled to re-enact the State law to make it valid. The case upon which the decision was made is that of Charles Rahrer of Topeka, agent for Maynard Hopkins of Kansas City. Rahrer sold liquor in the original package as it came to him from Kansas City.

The decision has caused all of the original package men to wake up and look about for some means to get their own cases through.

Run on a Michigan Bank.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 18.—Wm. Duncan, President of the Fifth National Bank, resigned yesterday from the directory and James D. Robinson, one of the best known financiers in the town, was elected to succeed him. Dunham is on $100,000 worth of R. G. Peters' paper and is badly embarrassed. Peters is a director in the bank but will be retired at an early date. The connection of Peters and Dunham with the bank alarmed the depositors and, commencing at 9 o'clock yesterday, they made a run for their cash. There was a long string of anxious people in front of the window all day, but the other banks in town came to the rescue with an abundance of cash, and all depositors received their money on demand.

Swellings in the Neck

Scrofula in Its Most Obstinate Form

Yields to the Great Conqueror of All Blood Diseases

Hood's Sarsaparilla

There is no form of Scrofula more obstinate and more difficult to cure than swelling of the glands in the neck. Small kernels appear first, gradually increasing in size, until large, unsightly lumps are formed, which refuse to permanently subside even under the physician's knife. The proper way to reach these swellings is through the blood. Remove the cause and the result will disappear. Eradicate the scrofulous taint, and a cure is effected. So successful has Hood's Sarsaparilla been in curing this as well as other severe forms of Scrofula that we earnestly urge all sufferers to give this medicine a trial. It is your duty to seek relief in the article which has cured so many others.

Suffered Four Years.

"I certify that I had been sick for four years with an affliction my physicians called scrofula. Blotches came out all over my body, and swelling on the right side of the neck, and in less than a year I had lost 40 pounds in flesh. Last April I was induced by H. L. Tubbs, our druggist, to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I used two bottles without marked benefit. But Mr. Tubbs insisted on my giving it

A FAIR TRIAL

by using six bottles. So I continued and after taking the second bottle of this lot the blotches began to disappear, as did also the lump in my neck, and I soon began to gain in flesh. I took the medicine for four months, and then there was none of the disease left in my system. Three months have passed since I have taken any of the remedy, and I am entirely rid of the disease. I feel as

WELL AND STRONG

as I ever did before. I look upon Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the greatest remedies of the day, and the compounders of the same as public benefactors." GEO. W. DONER, Osceola, S. Dakota.

42 Prescriptions.

"I can vouch for the truth of the above letter from Geo. Doner, He tried two different physicians, and I can show 42 prescriptions that I put up for him; besides these he tried several preparations, doing him little or no good. After a great deal of talk I persuaded him to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after using seven bottles he is entirely cured. The cure in his case has increased the popularity of Hood's Sarsaparilla in this section, as he is quite well known." H. L. TUBBS, Druggist, Osceola, Dak.

Goitre Permanently Cured.

"I suffered terribly with swellings in my neck, or goitre, and spent an enormous amount of money for medicines and attendance in the effort to effect a cure, but all to no purpose. I became completely discouraged. One winter I read in one of Hood's Sarsaparilla pamphlets about Mrs. Anna Sutherland of Kalamazoo, Mich., who had goitre, and who was greatly benefitted by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I wrote to her to learn the additional facts, and received an answer fully confirming the testimonial. I then menced to take Hood's Sarsaparilla myself, and when I had taken two bottles found that my neck had been reduced in size two inches. I was so anxious to know the effect of the medicine that I used a tape measure every day. In a few weeks I found the swelling very much reduced, and I can breathe with perfect ease, which I have not done for years." MISS JENNIE ARMSTRONG, Crete, Ind.

The above letter was received over two years ago. Since then the lady has married and removed to Fremont, Mich., from which place she writes as follows: "I believed I had been permanently cured of goitre by Hood's Sarsaparilla, as since writing you before I have never had any more trouble from it, and I wish to thank you again for Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. JENNIE BIGELOW, Fremont, Mich.

Had a Mind of His Own.

"Some time ago my wife had a scrofula bunch as large as a hen's egg come up suddenly on the left side of her neck. It was only two or three weeks coming and we were naturally quite alarmed. I was told by my physician that I must take her to Burlington and have an operation performed, but I had a mind of my own on the subject and bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. In a week the bunch began to grow smaller, and in four weeks it was all gone. It has not returned nor has it troubled her since." F. R. FITTS, Chelsea, Vt.

SCRATCHED 28 YEARS.

A Scaly, Itching Skin Disease, With Endless Suffering, Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

If I had known of the CUTICURA REMEDIES twenty-eight years ago, it would have saved me $200 and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body, and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my suffering was endless, and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ringworm, psoriasis, etc. I cannot praise the CUTICURA REMEDIES too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them was $5 worth. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200, you would have had the money. I looked like the picture (No. 2, page 47) in your book, "How to Cure Skin Diseases," but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch once in a while, but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times.

DENNIS DOWNING, Waterbury, Vt.

REAL ESTATE NEWS.

A $22,000 Sale of Clemens Avenue Property and Some Other West End Deals.

A sale of 1,100 feet of ground on Clemens avenue for $22,000 was perfected to-day by the firm of Nelson & Mersman. The property fronts 550 feet on the north and 550 feet on the south side of Clemens by an average depth of 160 feet, extending from Belt avenue on the east to Clara on the West. This estate is next east of Clemens place proper, and the parties to whom Nelson & Mersman have sold it intend improving the property with sewers, Telford streets, water and gas mains and granitoid sidewalks, after the same plan as the Clemens place subdivision. Mr. Nelson says bids for making these improvements have been received and contracts already entered into for doing part of the work. An attractive feature of this property is a row of large shade trees, fifteen years old, which grow on both the north and south side of it. The grantors, a syndicate for whom J. A. Jones held the title, were represented by Charles H. Gleason & Co. In the sale they have realized $20 a foot for the ground, a low price, considering that the Lindell electric line is now in operation along Delmar avenue, only two blocks south. Mr. Nelson says if the sale had not been agreed upon some time ago, before the company commenced running its electric motors the ground could not have been purchased so cheap.

BARTMER AVENUE AND OLIVE STREET.

William C. Butterfield, the insurance man, is going to build a home in Chamberlain Park. He has purchased the site for it, paying George T. Crane $40 a foot for 100 feet of ground on Bartmer avenue, next west of the grantor's residence.

Joseph Vincent, whom report has it is about to be married, has bought the residence property numbered 2825 Olive street for his prospective bride. The premises, consisting of an eight-room brick house and 25x124 feet of ground, was purchased from Charles Schuerman for $4,500.

MISCELLANEOUS SALES.

Three pieces of ground on the north side of Delmar avenue, between Goodfellow and Hamilton, were sold yesterday at $22.50 a foot by C. C. Nicholls. One piece, 60x185 feet, the property of S. J. Dwyer, was purchased by A. M. Busch, and the other, a 60x185 foot lot, owned by the same party, was taken by S. G. Scaritt, who also bought another lot, 60x185 feet, in that block at the same price from A. J. Johann.

Wm. Lonergan has purchased through Meagher & Nagle's agency, from Rufus J. Delano, the two-story brick dwelling and 26½x130 foot lot at the southwest corner of Clark and Argyle avenues for $4,000 cash.

Only $3 to Cincinnati and return on the Ohio & Mississippi Railway. Tickets on sale until Oct. 19, inclusive.

Demolished the Furniture.

Patrick Downey lives at 1703 Gratiot street. He at present occupies a cell in the Four Courts holdover. Patrick went home late last night and because his wife was a little slow in opening the door he raised a small-sized riot. First he threw his step-son out of the house. Then he took an axe and proceeded to demolish the household furniture. Not content with this he sharpened a case-knife on a kitchen crock and cut the bedding into shreds and ribbons. While this was in progress Mrs. Downey slipped out by the rear door and called in Officer O'Brien of the Central District. Downey spent the night with the cock roaches. This morning he was sent into the First District Police Court charged with disturbing the peace. Mrs. Downey appeared against him and Judge Cady imposed a fine of $20 and costs. He has not yet paid and the Work-house stares him in the face.

A NEW YORK paper claims for New York the distinction of being the dirtiest city in the world. This piece of information will be a relief to the people of St. Louis who paid for granite streets under a promise that they would be kept clean.

THE Republican nomination for Congress in the Eighth District, having been hawked about until several men of means had examined the price label and declined to invest, has been tossed into the garbage barrel at last. The garbage contract combine has detailed its attorney to serve as the Filley-Pohlman candidate in that district.

TWO BUILDING contractors were fined yesterday for a violation of the city ordinance requiring a red light to be shown at all obstructions left on the streets over night. Now let the police pay some attention to the other violation of the city ordinances which consists in distributing dirt and debris over the streets wherever building is going on.

THERE is not a day passes without the publication in the daily papers of St. Louis of the reports of seizures of newspapers for publishing lottery advertisements, but the POST-DISPATCH is the only paper which calls attention to the fact that there is a State law against lottery advertising, which is daily violated through the connivance of Gov. FRANCIS' Four Courts officials.

IT is the members of the dominant party in Congress and not the merchants and dealers who are to blame for putting up prices under the new tariff. The dealers are simply confirming the claim that it is a protective tariff. Those who set up that claim have a good deal of assurance when they pretend that the tariff would cheapen goods if the dealers did not take advantage of it to put up prices. There would be no protection in a tariff which cheapened goods to "the pauper level of European production."

SINUOUS STATESMANSHIP.

Eighteen years ago Senator SHERMAN made a great speech against taxes on consumption as "intrinsically unjust," a wrongful discrimination against the poor. Where the whole burden of taxation rests on consumption and not one cent on property or income, he declared that it would not do to say that each one consumes in proportion to his means. "Every one must see," he said, "that the "consumption of the rich does not bear "the same relation to the consumption of "the poor as the income of the one does "to the wages of the other," and he confidently foretold that "as wealth accumu-"lates this injustice in the fundamental "basis of our system will be felt and "forced upon the attention of Congress."

It has been felt and forced upon the attention of Congress, but instead of voting for one cent of tax on property or incomes, Senator SHERMAN has voted to aggravate the injustice of our system and to increase the average tax on the consumption of dutiable articles from 47 to 57 per cent. He has not only voted for a more wickedly unjust tax on consumption but has voted that money thus unjustly extorted from the poor shall be paid out in unconstitutional bounties to rich sugar planters and others. Not only to pay government expenses, but for the private emolument of a class is he now willing to increase the very taxes he eighteen years ago denounced as fundamentally unjust.

But, worse still, after all his recent political demonstrations against trusts and his declarations that trusts should be deprived of protection, he has voted against amendments in accord with those declarations and voted for increased protection for trusts and monopoly combinations. That he knew what he was doing is shown by his closing speech on the bill, in which he pretended to warn the trusts against abusing the power he had helped to give them. He admitted that they might combine and rob the people under the bill, but he begged them not to offend the people so as to incense them against tariff protection. He implored them to open the doors which the bill closed against fair competition and said if they did not he would be ready to vote for its repeal.

Only JOHN SHERMAN has ever made such a record as this in American politics.

AFTER admitting Idaho with her population of 80,229, largely composed of disfranchised Mormons, and Wyoming with her population of 60,589, including Mormons and their numerous wives, all made voters by local law, the Republicans refused to admit New Mexico as a State with a census population of 144,882, or 4,000 more than Idaho and Wyoming both. Now we are told that the Republican opposition to New Mexico's admission was not based on partisan considerations, but on the higher ground that her people do not come up to the Republican standard of intelligence. That standard, of course, is attained only by voting the Republican ticket and the figures which the Republicans say they are waiting for to settle thi question of intelligence are, of course, the election returns, showing Republican majorities. The illiterate millions of the negroes in the South were made voters because they were intelligent enough to vote the Republican ticket, and the educated whites of the South were disfranchised for lack of similar intelligence. The Republican party's regard for intelligence is about as manifest as its disregard for partisan considerations.

MR. GOULD says the man who cannot have two suits at the increased price imposed by the new tariff must content himself with one. It is only by thus stinting themselves, their wives and their children that the American people can realize any reduction of taxation from the new tariff. Even after they have made this sacrifice, the revenues, according to some experts of high authority, will be as large as ever, and Mr. WINDOM will still have to ward off Treasury engorgements and business disturbances by giving money away by the million to the bondholders and usurers of Wall street. While the people stint themselves and forego accustomed comforts to supply the means for such liberality to the bondholders, Mr. WINDOM is generously relieving the money market by paying the owners of the 4½ per cents both their principal and interest a year before either is due. Thus they will get compound interest on money they have not earned—money which is not theirs, but taken wrongfully from people who are stinting themselves under their heavy burden of over-taxation.

The latest piece of enterprise on the part of the St. Louis POST-DISPATCH in offering a prize of $100 for the best original idea or suggestion, to be utilized as a feature of attraction by the St. Louis Exposition of 1891, has resulted in the accumulation of a stock of novelties wonderful in quantity and quality and necessarily including many that are bright, ingenious and picturesque. Our esteemed contemporary is certainly doing a good thing for itself and the Exposition by this exhibition of liberality and public spirit. The prize suggestion is to be determined upon at a meeting of the directors early next week.

A WOMAN'S TRIBUTE.

MISS PHŒBE COUZINS' ADDRESS IN HONOR OF JUDGE MILLER'S CHARACTER.

The Associate Judge's Recognition of the Female Sex Highly Lauded—The Character of the Great Jurist Shown in the Most Eloquent Manner—The Memorial Meeting.

The St. Louis Bar Association held a meeting yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock and adopted a memorial upon the death of Justice Miller. Copies of the memorial will be sent to the family and to the Attorney-General, the latter being requested to present it when the Supreme Court meets on Monday. District Attorney Reynolds was appointed to present a copy of the memorial to the United States Circuit Court of this district. A party of fifteen or twenty members of the bar left last evening for Keokuk to attend the funeral.

Among the addresses delivered was one by Miss Phœbe Couzins. Miss Couzins spoke as follows:

MISS COUZINS' ADDRESS.

MR. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN OF THE MISSOURI BAR—It is with feelings of peculiar emotion that I join in this reverent tribute to the hallowed memory of the Senior Justice of the Supreme Judicial Bench of this nation.

To you, who come with joined hands as fellow laborers in the same field of action as was his, to lay upon his bier your recognition of a superior mind and judgment which led you to higher planes of resolute thought, and pointed you towards clearer forms of justice, the incense is that of a united and sweetly solemn deliverance; but for one who stands alone in your midst as the exponent of the untried principle of exact justice to the whole human family, admitted to the pastures green and meadows fair by pure sufferance alone, the task is grievous and the cross not easily borne.

But should I keep silence on this occasion, and refuse to utter that which I know would be pleasing to Justice Miller's keen appreciation of that which is right and true, I should be unworthy of the confidence he reposed in me, and false to the fealty I owe that loyal soul, we universally lament to-day.

Three years ago, almost to this day, when, as now, the leaves were gathering and the crimson, the gold, the brown foretold the fast-declining year, and the russet oat field and the ripening wheat marked the coming of the harvest home, Justice Miller, in a like fruition of majestic ripened years and mellowed wisdom came to this circuit, and sitting in sweet and dignified presence in that now eloquently vacant chair, delivered to this court, and directed the sworn sentence to me which proclaimed a new departure in the ethics of judicial procedure, and set the seal of his approval to the onward progress of the race.

A golden deed of a righteous Judge and fitly crowning a long life of strict adherence to just vision—and this noble courage which threw down the gauntlet to the past ages of denial of woman's capacity and invited the supreme test in the nineteenth century by appointing one to the hitherto untried position in America of a difficult executive office which he knew came qualified to disprove the libel of the ages—demands of me a recognition which his character, ability, broad statesmanship, his thorough legal attainments, long service at bench and bar and wide experience merits in no ordinary degree—and silence on this occasion would be arrant cowardice and treachery to Justice Miller who put this question to the test.

A question not limited to me as an individual, but one of which the ages have again and again demanded across the centuries, "What of the woman?" and to which the ordinary mind, ignorant of the great march of ideas, of the progress toward moral reformation, of the advance in moral sentiment, for enlarged opportunities of woman's varied powers, has again and again made answer from out its low range of vision and in the oft-derisive tones of the past.

But Justice Miller, as supreme authority, advanced for them this as yet in our country a new and untried principle which we are bound to respect as one which his superior judgment and wisdom apprehended as fitting and worthy of fair trial and not to be measured by the limitations of a narrow range of thought and experience, but accorded the deference which so pronounced a step from so high an authority demanded.

For Justice Miller violated no law, but rehabilitated the principle of the English common law, long recognized in a monarchy, and pointed this Republic to a forgotten equity in its jurisprudence and, with his majestic signet, he gave to those women of the past, who trod unflinchingly the fiery furnace for the truth's sake, who braved the den of lions for a great principle, who have burned at the stake of public opinion for the noble right of advancement to the race. His justification of the truth.

A GREAT CHARACTER.

He was a man of whom it was justly said possessed that luminous instinct of common sense which the homely Socrates flashed upon the tangled questions of his day; a Judge to whom no legal sophistries could blunt the keen edge of his judgment, and no fallacies curtained and obscured for him the crystal clearness of the simple truth.

Even as the breadth of his mind compassed the full round of grave questions of State, so, too, his tact and wit and quick apprehension ofttimes relieved the court from a strain which might have vitiated the full force of the deliverance.

And in this instance, he exhibited the like rare quality of intuitive grasp.

Comprehending that the situation was one of sore trial to me, and that the tide of emotion which was threatening my composure came not only from his courage of conviction but from the knowledge that I apprehended in it, also, his graceful act of recognition to his memory of a man whose unselfish devotion to his country and State, invested this appointment of his daughter with the unusual but most deserved tribute to a lifeof unsullied integrity, he leaned forward with most cordial approval on his smiling face, while the oath was being administered, and at the close, with a graceful wave of his hand he placed all listeners en rapport with the court by saying, "And now, Mistress Marshal, I hope you will have no occasion to hang a man during your administration of office." In a prized letter to me, he says, "while you were not permitted to fill out the full tenure of your father's term, let us congratulate ourselves that we have established a precedent which, sooner or later, must be recognized by all. Even now other courts are admitting women to official positions, and it cannot be long before the principle will be acknowledged by all."

Thus, Justice Miller, knowing that wisdom is only justified of her children by the unerring test of actual demonstration, has put the question to the proof.

In preservation of national unity he has repeatedly rendered constitutional decisions in recognition of the dual character of our Government and now, at the close of a life, rounded to completion, he crowned his career by offering his recognition to the dual character of its component parts, in harmonized unity of complete freedom of action, and equality of privileges, which alone preserves and brings to full fruition a perfected government, and thus moves onward towards the great moral reformation that is to redeem the world. No accident of thought, or idealistic vision gave us liberty, justice, law and all of the beatitudes prefigured by and through woman. It is the great soul of the universe painting the final revelation yet to come to humanity, the prophecy of the ages. And Justice Miller with the sage's vision of the clear and crystal truth, set his seal to this great renaissance, approaching which shall solve the tangled problems of the past, and usher in the dawn of peace, and hope, and trust to the whole human race.

A LAUREL FOR WOMAN.

I come therefore to lay this laurel for woman on the noble brow of the senior Justice of the United States Supreme Court as he majestically departs to his final resting place and is tenderly retired to his long home with the "well done, good and faithful servant," and crowned with the love of the people whom he has well and truly served. A beauteous life, which reflects the golden sunbeams, as does the crimson beauty round the setting sun.

DENIED A DIVORCE.

JUDGE KLEIN DISMISSES THE BAUMANN BILL AND CROSS-BILL.

An Opinion in a Somewhat Singular Case—M. Did Not Identify Morris—A Complicated Estate—Litigation Costs—General Court News.

Judge Klein to-day dismissed the bill and cross-bill in the case of Frederick Baumann, Jr., vs. Minna O. Baumann. The chief allegation of the plaintiff's bill was that the said defendant has for the space of more than one year been guilty of habitual drunkenness, has frequently absented herself from the house of plaintiff at unseemly hours and has been brought home in a state of intoxication, "much to the shame of the plaintiff." The Judge found from the evidence that the defendant had a number of times been under the influence of liquor. On two or three occasions in Nashville she was intoxicated. On a number of occasions she appeared in the dining room of the Belvidere Hotel, Thirteenth and Washington avenue, intoxicated. On one occasion her husband took her home from Sherer's book-store in a stupor produced by morphine. On another occasion she was taken home from Green's millinery store in the same condition. All of these instances happened within six months prior to the date of separation, which was April 4, 1890. There was no evidence in support of the allegation that she had associated with persons of bad reputation or that she got drunk in such company. "There is no evidence in the case from which the court would be warranted in finding that she had been addicted to habitual drunkenness for the space of one whole year before the separation."

As to the cross-bill the Judge said, "The charges made as against the plaintiff's chastity are wholly unsupported by any evidence, and the defendant ought not to have inserted any such charge in her cross-bill unless she intended to support the same by evidence." He finds that the other charges of the cross-bill are not worthy of notice. As it cannot be said that the defendant has become wholly uncontrollable, he says it is the duty of the plaintiff to use his influence to prevent the recurrence of such acts on her part. "While it appears that the plaintiff has remonstrated with the defendant in regard to this matter, it also appears that at times he himself had given her liquor."

M. Did Not Identify Morris.

Judge Klein, in Division No. 1 of the St. Louis Circuit Court, this morning handed down an opinion in the case of Frank Ritter vs. Morris Langsdorf. Though little interest attaches to the case, but the opinion is interesting and is as follows: "This is an action for a balance due on a foreign judgment. The only evidence introduced in support of plaintiff's claim is a transcript of an attachment suit instituted by the present plaintiff in the County Court of Franklin County, Ill., against M. Langsdorf, in which a judgment for $937.88 was rendered Feb. 20, 1890. There seems to have been a sale of real estate attached and a balance of $473.81 is stated in the transcript to be due on judgment. There is nothing in the transcript to indicate the Christian or given name of the defendant there in. Only the initial letter "M." is given. No allegation in the petition, and no evidence offered on the submission of the cause serves to identify M. Langsdorf, who was defendant in the Illinois suit with the present Morris Langsdorf. M may stand for a number of different names, Martin, Michael, Moses, Morris or even a number of names of females.

It has been decided by the Supreme Court that where, in an action against a non-resident, the order of publication against the defendant gave his name as Q. R. Noland instead of Quinces R. Noland, and there was no personal appearance under the order of publication, the court acquired no jurisdiction. In that case the court said that there is no presumption in law to be indulged in that Q stands for Quinces.

"In the present case the court in Illinois undoubtedly acquired jurisdiction over some one designated as M. Langsdorf because a plea was filed in his or her behalf by counsel. But there is here no evidence from which the Court can legally infer that the present defendant is the person so designated there. It follows that under the pleadings and evidence the plaintiff is not entitled to recover and there must be judgment for the defendant unless the plaintiff is advised to take a non-suit."

A Complicated Estate.

Catherine Steininger died possessed of some real estate, and in her will named John E. Vogel, executor. Her daughter, Emma Vogel, died subsequently, leaving her interest in her mother's estate to her husband, John E. Vogel. Later John E. Vogel died, leaving his estate to his father, sister and two half-brothers. One of the half-brothers sold to J. E. Vogel's father. Part of the property inherited by Catherine Steininger's husband was seized under execution issued in favor of Wm. Buehler, was sold, and bought in by Buehler, who has since died. The other property was covered by a deed of trust given by the other heirs. To secure the settlement of all the questions arising under the varied claims growing out of the complications mentioned and for partition, one of the heirs, John A. Steininger sued John G. Steininger and the other heirs. Judge Kilen to-day found the amended petition very defective and sustained a demurrer to it.

Life Association Assets.

C. P. Ellerbe, Superintendent of Insurance, was to-day granted permission to sell eighty acres of land in the northeast corner of Macon County for $240. Appraisers Theo. Gray and Henry Brown said the land is only worth $200, and John F. Williams of Macon says the land is swampy, that Brush Creek crosses the eighty acres three times, and it is only valuable to an adjoining proprietor. The land is part of the assets of the defunct Life Association of America.

Probate Matters.

Francis Nohl to-day qualified as administrator of the estate of Dorothea Nebhuth, which is worth $3,600. The bond was for $500.

Public Administrator Scudder took possession of the property left by Margaretha Brockmeyer.

Litigation Costs.

Nathan W. Cole sued George C. Wright in 1886 to recover one-half of $1,125 earned by plaintiff and defendant as partners in a railroad contract near Kinderhook, Pike County, Ill., over and above expenses. Subsequently Cole died, and his heirs failing to prosecute the suit Judge Kilen dismissed it to-day, after allowing $38.50 to the stenographer who took depositions, and $200 to Referee John A. Harrison. These allowances and other court costs are charged against the plaintiff's estate.

Court Notes.

Final judgment was entered in the case of Helen Scholl's administrator vs. Isaac E. Jones in the Circuit Court for $2,175 and interest.

The Joseph Schnaider Brewing Co. obtained judgments for $1,401.50 against J. D. Meyer and $547.72 against Theo. Nagel in the Circuit Court to-day.

In the case of Julia Jones vs. the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. judgment was entered in Division No. 1 of the Circuit Court to-day for $275.

John A. Wagener to-day sued Wm. C. Richmond to recover possession of lots six and seven, block T Guion tract (city block 1835), fronting on Cass avenue, and $50 per month rent;

THE BRADY FUND.

The Two Thousand Dollar Mark Passed To-Day.

The contributions to the Brady fund are still coming in, and more are expected. The worthiness of the cause is daily indorsed by every one, and substantial testimonials of opinion go with them.

The fund is being collected for the widow and orphans of Officer James Brady, who was shot and killed in a negro dive while in the discharge of his duty.

The police of St. Louis are anxious to enlist the sympathy and assistance of the citizens of St. Louis in the interest of their fellow officer's family and have set the good example by contributing as much as they could afford.

Chief Harrigan has been actively engaged in helping the fund along and will be glad to receive donations of any amount.

The case is a most worthy one as the officer was faithful and efficient and did his duty to the fullest extent and in doing so lost his life.

The fund to-day is swelled by a good donation from the police of East St. Louis and by private subscriptions.

A fellow feeling which must win the admiration of all undoubtedly prompted the following received at the Four Courts this morning

Maj. L. Harrigan, Chief of Police, St. Louis:

DEAR SIR: Please accept the enclosed three hundred dollars contributed by the police of East St. Louis for the benefit of the family of the deceased Officer James Brady, who lost his life in doing his duty. MICHAEL WALSH,
East St. Louis, Ill. Chief of Police.

Capt. Kiely of the Fourth District telephoned Chief Harrigan to-day that the officers in his command had raised an additional $70 for the Brady fund.

John T. Flynn of 813 Wash street contributed $2 to the Brady Fund yesterday evening.

Capt. Campbell, commanding the Fifth District, reports $1 contributed by Mr. Lathy to the fund.

The sum of $5.50, contributed at No. 16 Engine-house, Broadway and Park avenue, for the Brady fund, was forwarded to the Four Courts this morning. Thomas Callihan, B. Brueggeman, B. J. Will, J. Heidwig and Rudolph Upen gave each $1, while A. R. Tayon subscribed 50 cents.

Mr. Peter Oakes sent $5 for the family of Officer Wilmer and $10 for the Brady fund.

Mr. R. U. Leonori of the firm of R. U. Leonori & Co., auctioneers, handed Chief Harrigan $5 on the street yesterday evening to be added to the Brady fund.

IT BEAT THE "BROTHER-IN-LAW."

The Bell Punches Sought to Be Introduced on San Francisco Cable Roads.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 18.—A special from San Francisco says: A scheme to rent bell punches to cable road conductors whereby the companies would lose more than they did by the "brother-in-law" was nipped in the bud by Detective Curtin, who left last night for Denver with Wm. H. Robertson, a Missourian, who acted as agent in introducing the punches. Robertson made a confession implicating Patrick Kellum of Denver as his principal. According to his story Kellum secured Beadle & Meeker's punches from the manufacturers, and his scheme was to hire out the genuine registers at $10 a week each. The conductor, by using a double registry and an extra slip, could embezzle without fear of detection. Kellum told Robertson that he had fourteen registers hired out in Kansas City and a dozen in Denver, bringing in a revenue of $260 per week, while the conductors made much more. He gave Robertson full instructions how to work the scheme here. Kellum said that he had the punches rented in Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis, and he assured Robertson that as they were genuine the companies could not prosecute him. It is believed that Robertson has placed many of the registers here. He is a native of Hannibal, Mo.

THE OCCUPANT OF ROOM NO. 200.

She Was in No Way Connected With Mabrey's Disappearance.

In connection with the mysterious disappearance of Richard Mabrey, the occupant of room No. 200 at Hurst's Hotel, a lady, has been frequently mentioned. In a letter received to-day Miss Kate Haywood, of Murphysboro, Ill., makes known her name, as the occupant of the room from Sept. 22, to Oct. 4, and in the most emphatic terms denies that she knew Mr. Mabrey or was in his company at any time while in this city, a fact of which she has fully convinced Mr. Mabrey's relatives.

The rumor that Mr. Mabrey was seen with a handsome brunette at the hotel was founded on the fact that Miss Haywood and a married lady, stopping with her husband at the hotel, always got off on the same floor that Mr. Mabrey did and occupied rooms adjoining. Miss Haywood, it has been proved, was in no way connected with the case or with Mabrey's disappearance.

Mrs. Metz in a Convent.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 18.—A Chattanooga (Tenn.) special says: Mrs. Metz, the handsome blonde wife of a prominent business man, the disappearance of whom (the wife) was coincident with a part of the sensation attending the skipping of Vernon Whiteside, the City Auditor, who left behind him a deficit of something like $26,000, has been heard from in a convent in Chicago, probably the House of the Good Shepherd. Whiteside left her penniless, and she made a confession to Archbishop Feehan, who took compassion upon her and communicated with Bishop Radamacher of the diocese of Tennessee, and asked for all particulars concerning her. Bishop Radamacher sent a brief history of her career here and in Nashville, and wrote the Archbishop to induce her to enter a Chicago convent. Archbishop Feehan sent for Mrs. Metz, and persuaded her to enter a convent.

Iron and Steel Men at Birmingham, Ala.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 18.—A Birmingham (Ala.) special says: The members of the Iron and Steel Institute spent yesterday inspecting the furnace and iron works of the city and suburbs and gathering facts and figures about the cost of making iron. They expressed themselves as astonished at the low cost of making iron here, while the methods employed are so crude and there is so much waste. They say with improved methods and less waste in handling material iron can be made here as cheap if not cheaper than at any other place in the world. There was no reception or public entertainment yesterday and the visitors left the city at 9 o'clock last night.

Mehl Arrested on a Second Warrant.

A second warrant was yesterday sworn out against Fred C. Mehl, the embezzling clerk of Mueller Bros., charging him with embezzlement of an additional $6,900, the shortage being discovered by a further examination of the books for some years past. Mehl was arrested at his home on Clark avenue and taken to the Four Courts.

PACIFIC SLOPE WHEAT.

LARGE RECEIPTS IN THIS MARKET OF OREGON GRAIN.

A Remarkable Change in the Handling of Wheat From the Pacific States—The First Considerable Shipments Ever Made to the Mississippi Valley—Cause of the Movement.

THE course of the wheat market and the high prices that have prevailed have introduced a new element which may in future have no little effect on the market during years when the wheat crop is below the average. Heretofore the St. Louis and Chicago markets have only reckoned on the grain grown east of the Rocky Mountains for their supplies, and the Pacific Coast has been entirely disregarded. All the grain that left California and Oregon has been shipped abroad previous to the present autumn, and a large or small crop on the Pacific Coast had only a very remote and indirect effect on the Eastern markets, not any greater effect than the Hungarian or Russian crop exercised.

A CHANGE IN TRADE CHANNELS.

That this state of affairs is coming to an end is proved by the fact that within the week over half a million bushels of Oregon and California wheat has come to this market, and to-day 250,000 bushels were received and sold. The last importation was from Oregon, via the Northern Pacific, but a much greater amount is on the way from California, and will shortly arrive. The high price of wheat in Eastern markets, coupled with the comparatively low price of grain abroad has caused the far Western wheat grower to cast an eye toward the Mississippi Valley. The railroads that heretofore have secured only local traffic in grain have made very low transcontinental rates, and it is generally agreed that in future the Pacific Slope wheat will have to be reckoned on in the Eastern markets. There are two causes that render profitable a diversion of the Western grain from Europe to the Eastern part of the United States.

RAILROAD RIVALRY.

The addition to the number of transcontinental lines, and the competition that has arisen, has had the effect of greatly lowering freight rates. The rivalry between the Northern Pacific and the Southern roads has been very keen lately, and the citizens of San Francisco are backing up the Central Pacific and using all their influence to prevent a reduction of rates. Within the past two weeks there has been a split between the San Francisco grain dealers and the Central Pacific management. The former were anxious to prevent the movement of grain Eastward, as if it had to seek an outlet to Europe, all the wheat would have to be handled in San Francisco, while if it was sent East the shipments would be made from way stations along the road, and San Francisco would get none of the business. The Central Pacific perceiving that its Northern rival was drawing a great deal of grain from it for the purpose of being shipped eastward, has lowered the overland rates and a large amount of grain is now eastbound over this line.

THE SHIPPING INTEREST.

The second reason for the change in the courses of trade is that freight rates from San Francisco to England have risen sharply during the present year. The rates have for years been very low, on account of a peculiarity in the San Francisco trade. At no other prominent port of the world is the number of sailing vessels clearing so large in proportion to the steamers. Nine-tenths of the traffic around Cape Horn, the route taken by the Pacific coast wheat has been done in old sailing vessels, that have given place to steamers on other routes. These vessels were as a rule sold at a price far below the cost of construction, and carried freight on this valuation, the profits not being large. There has been a great falling off in the number of these vessels of late years, as they are for the most part old and worn out, and the freight would not yield remunerative returns on new ships. In consequence the rates have risen, and the course of the wheat is likely to be turned eastward. The California wheat will in future play no inconsiderable part in the markets of the East.

A FURNITURE FACTORY.

Largest One in the West to be Built in North St. Louis.

The furniture manufacturing trade in St. Louis is just now having a boom, the largest that it has ever yet experienced. All of the factories have been crowded of late and the business done has only been limited by the factory capacity. For some time past a number of enterprising manufacturers have been busy looking over the city with a view to establishing a location for a factory which is to be the largest in the West, if not in America. They have within the past few days got a square of ground north of North Market street and east of the Wabash tracks. On this they propose to put up a seven-story factory, which will give employment to between 300 and 400 hands. "The gentlemen back of the enterprise have ample capital," said M. A. G. Osgood of the St. Louis Board of Furniture Trade, "but for a number of business reasons do not care to have their names used in public print just now. A number of them are now in the East inspecting the various factories with a view to making a selection. The only active feature of the work this winter will be to decide on plans. Work will not begin until some time in 1891, but it is expected that it will nearly be ready for the trade by next April or May."

A RELIGIOUS RELIC.

Mr. Chris Brokate Has a Bible That Is Over Two Hundred and Sixty-five Years Old.

Recently on his return from a tour through Europe, Mr. Chris Brokate, Live Stock Inspector, residing at No. 2340 Montgomery street, brought with him from Germany an ancient Bible, 265 years old, which is doubtless among the oldest works of its kind to be found in America. The print is unusually large, as indeed is the Bible, being the largest sized one ever seen in this country. It has 1,516 pages, each being 2 feet long and 1 foot 6 inches square, while the thickness of the book is nearly 1 foot and its weight 65 pounds. It is an heirloom in the Brokate family, is in the German language and was printed at Nuernberg, Germany, by Paul Ernotters in 1623. The work is profusely illustrated with scriptural scenes. Mr. Brokate has been offered $500 for his sacred treasure.

CABLE CARS.

The Broadway Line Will Be In Operation in Sixty Days.

The Broadway cable road is rapidly nearing completion, and it will be a pleasant surprise to its patrons to learn that the road will be in operation its entire length before the Christmas holidays. Col. Robt. McCulloch, the general manager of the syndicate street railroads, said this morning: "The chief features of the road are complete. The machinery, with few exceptions, is in position. The power-houses, both at the north and south ends of the road are so far advanced that the larger portion of each is practically in shape for the roof, while the entire road-bed is ready for service. You can say that we expect to have the first trains moving as early as the middle of December. The work throughout will cost $1,500,000, which does not include an equipment of ninety grip cars and 100 box and 100 summer cars, which will not cost less than $200,000."

CONTRACTORS COMPLAIN.

$10,000 SAID TO HAVE BEEN PAID "FOR THE GOOD OF THE PARTY."

Undue Influence to Secure the Big Water-Works Contract Charged by the Defeated Bidders—The Reply of W. B. Thompson for the Worthington Company—Col. Flad on the Subject.

Mr. Wm. B. Thompson is a frequent visitor to the City Hall now. He is the legal adviser of the Worthingtons. He has no doubt of the result of the vote or of any investigation the Council may make into the award of contract to his clients. As most readers of the POST-DISPATCH already know, three big pump manufacturers made bids for the contract for constructing two low service engines for the water works at Chain of Rocks. There was some $40,000 difference between the highest bid, that of the Providence (R. I.) works, and the lowest bid, $299,500, that of the Worthingtons. Mr. Burnett, the President of the Board of Public Improvements, and Water Commissioner Holman, the gentleman in charge of the new work, wanted the board to reject all the bids on the ground that the lowest one, the Worthington bid, was not in strict compliance with the specifications. Sewer Commissioner McMath, Park Commissioner Klem and Mr. Murphy, who was then Harbor and Wharf Commissioner, were in favor of awarding the contract to the lowest bidder, Messrs. Klem and McMath being willing to stake their opinion as civil engineers that the bid of the Worthingtons complied with the specifications called for in the contract, and Mr. Murphy siding with them after he had, he claims, secured an admission from Mr. Holman that the pumps which the Worthingtons proposed to build would or could be made to fill the bill. The Worthington members were in a majority, but there was a vacancy in the board and it was necessary to have the votes of four members or a majority of the board to make the award. It all depended on the votes of the new member, and of course there was a struggle on the part of the Worthington people to secure the appointment and confirmation of a man favorable to their bid, the Holly and Providence people working just as hard to place a man in the board who would vote with President Burnet and Commissioner Holman, for if all the bids were rejected, they would have an equal chance with the Worthingtons on the new letting. The result of the contest is well known. Mr. Murphy was transferred to the head of the Street Department and Capt. Dan Able was appointed Harbor and Wharf Commissioner. The nominations were confirmed by the Council, and at the next meeting of the Board of Public Improvements the contract for building the pumps at Chain-of-Rocks was awarded to the Worthingtons. Just what influence was brought to bear to secure the confirmation of Messrs. Able and Murphy is not known, the reports circulated by the friends of the Holly and Providence people not having as yet been established and perhaps never will be, although an effort in that direction is to be made before the committee to whom the contract is to be submitted in the Council. The contract as well as the bond of the Worthingtons must be approved by the Council, and it is customary to refer such matters first to a committee. The bond must also be approved by the Mayor, but there is no question as to the security of the bond, for it is signed by the American Assurity Co., and the amount is only $10,000. The bond will be referred to the Committee on Public Improvements, consisting of Messrs. Vogel, Metcalf and Horton.

It is before this committee that the Holly people will make their protest. They are to lead the fight, but will be assisted by the Providence folks. The ground of the protest will be the claims that the bid of the Worthingtons does not comply with the specifications of the contract, but it will also be shown, if necessary, that both the Providence Co. and the Holly Co. were approached by well-known politicians, who claimed that the contract could be secured for either company for $10,000. A similar proposition is also said to have been made to the Worthington Co., but who was to get the money was not stated, although a prominent city official has since been informed that it was used "for the good of the party." Which party was not stated, but the supposition is that the Democratic party was meant. Just how an addition of $10,000 to the Democratic campaign fund could secure the Worthingtons or either of the other companies the contract is a mystery still to be solved.

Capt. Able's appointment as Harbor and Wharf Commissioner was unanimously confirmed by the Council, and Mr. Murphy's appointment was confirmed by the votes of Messrs. Bensiek, Comfort, Ganahl, Hoolan, Rohan, Sloan and Walbridge, a bare majority of the Council, Messrs. Cole, Horton, Meier, Metcalfe and Nelson voting "no," and Mr. Vogel being absent.

THE WORTHINGTON CO.'S REPLY.

When seen this morning in regard to the ugly rumors referred to above, Mr. W. B. Thompson said that there was not a particle of truth in them so far as his connection with them was concerned, or the connection of any person associated with the Worthington Co. "I have heard of these reports before," he said, "but I take no stock in them. I heard that all the pump manufacturers were approached and were assured that the contract could be had for money, but I know positively that neither Mr. Worthington nor myself was approached and that neither of us nor any other person connected with our company has used any unfair influence to secure the contract. The idea that money has been paid is, of course, ridiculous and should not be seriously entertained. I don't believe that money was paid by any company, and so far as I can learn the men who made the proposition to the pump companies had no influence whatever. They were young fellows who aspired to great things, but who could accomplish nothing whatever alone, and I heard of no influential politicians being behind the scheme. I never heard who the young men were, and, as I said before, I put very little faith in the story.

NO UNDUE INFLUENCE USED.

"As to using our influence on members of the Council or Board of Public Improvements we have done nothing of the kind. Mr. Murphy never met a single member of our company in his life, and Capt. Able is not a man I would expect favors from, for he and I had a little difficulty in politics some time ago and we have not spoken since. Not a single man of our company has spoken to either Mr. Murphy or Capt. Able on the subject, and not a particle of influence was used by us or any of us to secure Mr. Murphy's confirmation as Street Commissioner or Able's as Harbor Commissioner.

"What do I know about the bids and specifications? Well, I know that ours was the lowest bid by $40,000 and that the designs we presented come up to the specifications. Mr. Holman and Mr. Burnett claimed at first that there was a variance between the valvular area called for in the specifications and the valvular area presented in our designs, but we showed them that there was no such variance and I believe Mr. Holman now agrees with me. But even if there is a difference, as at first claimed, our company will construct the engines according to the specifications under Mr. Holman's directions.

ORIGIN OF THE TROUBLE.

"The whole trouble was brought on, I think, by a young draftsman named Dean, who was formerly in the employ of Mr. Levett, the great civil engineer of Boston. He found out in some way the particular kind of design Mr. Holman wanted, and then made his plans accordingly and called them Levett's plans or Levett's engine. We can prove that he peddled these plans around, offering them to several pump manufacturers, the Fulton Iron Works of this city being of the number. Finally he found a purchaser at Providence, R. I., in the Building [illegible] company, and they sent in [illegible]. Now, mind you, this company does [illegible] and never has, and is [illegible]

the lowest, and therefore there was nothing for the board to do except to award us the contract and save the city $40,000. According to the calls for bids, every bidder could present his own designs, and if Mr. Holman wanted fly-wheel engines he should have said so at the start and put it in the specifications. Our designs are for direct acting pumps. The two pumps that do most of the pumping at the water-works at Bissel's Point were made by Worthington, and our company's reputation is second to none in the country.

"Another thing, you will find that Mr. Holman has a letter from Mr. Levett, in which he repudiates the plans made by his old employe, and points out some serious defects in them.

THE WORK TO BE DONE IN ST. LOUIS.

"I would prefer not to be interviewed about this matter, but if you are going to say anything about it at all, I want you to set us right and also to say that, if Mr. Worthington gets the contract, one half of the amount received for it, $300,000, will be expended in this city for labor and material. Nearly 2,000 hands are employed in the works, at Brooklyn, and the work could all be done there, but when our bid was first made I urged Mr. Worthington to have most of the work done in St. Louis if he got the contract. At first he found that all of the St. Louis iron companies were overloaded with work and could not do any of the heavy casting for the St. Louis Waterworks, but after the bids were submitted and the contract awarded, Mr. Allen of the Fulton Iron Works changed his mind, and consented to do the work requested of him by Mr. Worthington, and all arrangements have since been perfected for the casting of all the heavy work here in St. Louis. Mr. Worthington is not in the city now and has not been for several weeks."

COL. FLAD'S OPINION.

Col. Henry Flad, who was President of the Board of Public Improvements for thirteen years, was met on the street and asked his opinion of the board's action in awarding the contract to the Worthington Co. "I don't see how they could have done anything else," he replied. There is no better engine building company in the country than the Worthington and the fact that the design they presented does not agree exactly in valve measurements with the specifications would in my opinion be no good ground for rejecting the bid, if by so doing the city would lose $40,000. The company can be compelled if it accepts the contract to make the pumps exactly according to the specifications, whether their original design tallies with them or not."

Col. Flad knows nothing about the charges of bribery and other undue influence charged in connection with the awarding of the contract.

"The Two Johns."

John W. Dunn, the gentleman who represented the old Twenty-fifth Ward in the House of Delegates for five or six terms, is receiving the congratulations of his friends on his appointment to the position of Assistant City Treasurer. He is very thankful for the good wishes of his friends, but desires to inform them that there is more than one John W. Dunn in the city. Treasurer Foerstel's new assistant is John W. Dunn, who until recently was Assistant City Auditor.

Had a White Wife.

A permit for the burial of Sing Ham in Wesleyan Cemetery was issued by the Health Department this morning. Sing was the Chinaman run over and killed by a cable train of the Franklin Avenue Line a couple of days ago. He belonged to the Chinese Sunday-school and had a white wife. He was 45 years old and kept a laundry near Grand and Easton avenues.

Boring for Rock.

The borers of the Sewer Department are encountering a great deal of rock in Rock Springs, where borings are being made for 13,900 feet of district sewers in the new sewer district called Rock Springs District No. 1. The object of the borings is to ascertain the depth and character of the rock along the lines of the proposed sewers, to enable the department to make its estimates of the cost of the sewers, as the letting of the work to contractors is to a large extent based upon these estimates. The district embraces about seventy-five acres and is bounded by Papin street and the Clayton road and Boyle avenue and Rock Springs sewer. Another district just south of this has also been laid out and is to be called Rock Springs District No. 2. It embraces about ninety acres and lies between the old and the new Manchester roads. When all this work is done, Rock Springs and vicinity will have about six miles of district sewers, all emptying into the Mill Creek public sewer.

"I can't see that Rock Springs has changed much in forty years," said Assistant Sewer Commissioner Wise this morning. "I helped survey the Missouri Pacific Railroad through Rock Springs nearly forty years ago, and the town looks to me now about the same as it did then. Building railroads was quite a feat in those days I can tell you. It took three years to build the line to Kirkwood."

City Hall Notes.

The contract for the grocery supplies for the city institutions for the next quarter has been divided between Mr. Dougherty, E. B. Stone and Henry Bruch.

Dr. Steinmetz, of the City Dispensary, sewed up an ugly wound this morning over the left eye of Dietrich Brunnenkamp, who fell down stairs at Seventh and Clark avenue.

City Counselor Bell returned this morning from Jefferson City, where he argued the city's mandamus suit against the Gas company before the Supreme Court, to compel the company to reduce the price of its gas to 90 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, the price now charged being $1.18. Judge Madill and Messrs. Bond & Adams represented the company in the argument.

Eight new arc lights were lit for the first time last night and will be kept burning regularly every night hereafter. They are located as follows: Chouteau and Cabanne avenues; Chouteau avenue railroad crossing; Chouteau avenue between Missouri Pacific railway and Manchester road; Eighteenth and Walnut streets; north end of Fourteenth street bridge; Sixth and Elm streets; Lucky and Cora streets; and Cora street between Cote Brilliante avenue and North Market street.

Capt. James Hardy is a success, not only in removing slops but also in collecting money for churches. The corner-stone of the new Catholic church on Rose Hill is to be laid next Sunday afternoon, and Capt. Hardy, who is to be Grand Marshal of the procession, has collected over $500 for the church. He got most of the money, he says, from real estate dealers, but the City Hall contributed a fair portion.

Only $3 to Cincinnati and return on the Ohio & Mississippi Railway. Tickets on sale until Oct. 19, inclusive.

TWENTY-FIRST STREET BRIDGE.

Ordinance for the Steel Work Opposed by the Board of Public Improvements.

The Board of Public Improvements met this forenoon, with all the members present.

The Board awarded the contracts for reconstructing Laclede avenues between Grand and Leffingwell avenue and Lucas avenue between Garrison and Grand avenues to Steifel & Ruechert for $21,581.56 and $25,555.20 respectively.

The board approved ordinances for the construction of a new bridge on Weber road over Gravois creek and the reconstruction of the flooring of the east Jefferson avenue bridge; also an ordinance for the repeal of the ordinance authorizing the construction of an iron bridge on the Columbia Bottom road over Moline creek.

The board further approved ordinances for the reconstruction of the bridge on Knox avenue, over River des Peres, the reconstruction of the roadway of the north approach to the Eighteenth street bridge, and the construction of the steel work of the superstructure of the Twenty-first street bridge at a cost of $130,000.

A big batch of ordinances for street improvements, favorably passed upon at previous meetings, were reported by the Committee on Streets and Alleys and were approved and will be sent to the Municipal Assembly to-night.

At 12 o'clock bids were opened for the improvement with Telford pavement of Cabanne avenue, between Belt and Goodfellow avenues; Lafayette, between Mississippi and [illegible] avenues, and Lafayette avenue [illegible]

THEY WILL DISBAND.

THE FIRST REGIMENT, N. G. M., IN A GRAVE DILEMMA.

Unless the State Aids the Local Troops They Must Go to Pieces—A Peculiar Armory Muddle—How the City May Come to the Rescue.

The withdrawal of the Citizens' Committee from the financial support of the local militia has brought matters to a peculiar climax in the military situation in St. Louis, and leaves the First Regiment N. G. M. in a decidedly bad shape. With all hope of further assistance from the citizens dispelled by the committee's action, and with no prospect of aid from the State earlier than probably January, 1891, if it comes at all, and with current expenses amounting to nearly $400 per month to be met, the prospects for a financial entanglement are extremely marked, and the local regiment officers are dismayed at the sudden crisis in military matters.

The letter written by the Citizens' Committee to Col. Comfort in notifying him of their unexpected action, explains itself and reads as follows:

THE CITIZENS' COMMITTEE LETTER.

Col. C. D. Comfort:

DEAR SIR—We find our collections for the support and maintenance of the militia are entirely exhausted, and from this time on they can receive no aid from the citizens' committee. We regret this more than the militia. We have received less and less every year, and that with reluctance, showing plainly that the citizens are tired of doing what plainly is the duty of the State to do.

The armory is in good condition, having been kept repaired out of the fund. The quarters are in first-class condition, due to the neatness and care of the men. They and you have the best wishes of the committee and we will be glad to be of service as citizens and friends.

The balance as per statement will be paid to you by our treasurer, Samuel Cupples, Esq., on demand. Very respectfully yours,

W. A. HARGADINE, Chairman.
SAMUEL CUPPLES, Treasurer.

COL. COMFORT ON THE SITUATION.

The balance turned over to Col. Comfort by Treasurer Cupples amounted to $111.88, and against that fund there is already due a ground rent payment of $275. So that the First Regiment is now insolvent, and with no prospect whatever of immediate financial aid. The most peculiar feature of the militia troubles is that the Armory, costing with improvements over $40,000, will, if money to meet the ground rent is not raised, revert to the owners of the property on which the building stands, the property itself being worth only about $20,000. Col. Comfort discussed this startling probability this morning, saying that he had recognized the danger of such a contingency as the present, and for a year past had been endeavoring to persuade the Citizens' Committee to purchase the property and thus avoid the risk of having to surrender the armory to the owners of the site. Nothing had been done in the matter, however. The detailed expenses under which the First Regiment is placed at the armory are given by Col. Comfort as follows: Ground rent, $1,100; janitor and engineer, $2,000; insurance, repairs, etc., about $900; making a total of $4,000 per year which must be met. Col. Comfort stated that the First Regiment, should the military bill be passed this winter, would receive about $10,000 a year from the State. He had hopes that the bill would pass, and in the meantime nothing else could be done. Should the bill fail to pass, the Armory would have to be abandoned, and while one or two companies might keep up their existence under the State law, the First Regiment would be forced to disband.

AID FROM THE CITY.

It is also hoped that the city will come to the rescue in the matter, as it is empowered to do by the State law. Sec. 6978 of art. 9 of the Military Code of Missouri reads:

All cities within the State of 100,000 inhabitants and over, shall enlarge, add to and extend the halls, armories and headquarters used and occupied by the respective police forces thereof, and permit, under such reasonable restrictions as they may impose, the joint occupancy of such halls, armories and headquarters by the National Guard of Missouri forces of such cities and the police forces thereof. Such improvements shall be made in the same manner and paid for by the same means as though such police force had been enlarged to a number equal to the aggregate number of such National Guard of Missouri and police forces.

Sec. 6979. All cities and counties within this State are hereby authorized to raise money, by taxation or otherwise, for the purpose of providing suitable drill halls, armories and headquarters for such organizations of the National Guard of Missouri as may be located therein.

Under the latter clause it is claimed that the city should take steps to support the armory for the regiment, and it is probable that a strong effort will be made to bring about such a result.

Col. Comfort states that no meeting of the Board of Regimental Officers will be called, as there is nothing the board could do to change the situation at present. It looks as if the First Regiment had suddenly and unexpectedly arrived at the closing point in its history as a regiment.

TIME-EXPIRED MEN.

About Half the First Regiment Became So Yesterday.

A circumstance that may have a strong bearing upon the present trouble in the First Regiment, possibly precipitating the disbandment, is the fact that on yesterday the three-year term of nearly one-third the enlisted men of the regiment expired, and these men are to-day out of the State service unless they choose to re-enlist. On Oct. 18, 1887, four companies of the present First Regiment were sworn into the State service, viz.: Companies A, F, E, and G. Of the enlisted men then sworn in of course some have dropped out during the three years' service, but nevertheless the members who become "time-expired men" yesterday are sufficiently strong in numbers to materially weaken the regiment should they decide not to again enter the State service. According to the military code of Missouri they have thirty days in which to signify their intention. With the exception of sixteen time-expired members of Company F, who intend leaving the service on account of opposition to the commanding officer of Company F, Lieut. R. E. Lee, most of the time-expired militia had proposed re-enlisting, but it is feared that with the present prospect of the regiment disbanding, they will now leave the State service in a body, allowing the expiration of their three years' term to sever the connection.

Capt. McEntire's Election Nullified.

The first instance on record in regimental history where an officer elected to commissioned rank failed to qualify and thereby lost his claim to a commission from the Governor, developed to-day at noon. At that hour Adjutant Batdorf mailed the following official order, emanating from the Adjutant-General's office, to Lieut. Allen of Company C.

HEADQUARTERS STATE OF MISSOURI,
CITY OF JEFFERSON, Oct. 13, 1890.

Special Orders, No. 42.

Capt. Walter McEntire having failed to qualify and fit himself for the position of Captain of Company C, First Regiment, N. G. M., the enlisted men of this company will meet at the Armory Saturday, Oct. 18, and proceed to the election of a Captain, and to fill any vacancy which may occur by reason of such election.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,
J. A. WICKHAM,
Adjutant-General.

The order had been issued Monday last, but was not published until to-day, as it was hoped Capt. McEntire would qualify during the week. His failure to do so throws him back into the rank and file.

NOT GALENNIE'S FAULT.

Why the Concert for the Irish Famine Fund Failed—Normile's Promise.

Mr. E. J. O'Connor, in speaking of the failure to secure the Music Hall for a concert to be given by Gilmore for the benefit of the famine-stricken Irish, said to-day: "I do not want to be placed in the position of saying that our failure to secure the hall was due to Mr. Galennie personally, but that Mr. Galennie's reasons were that he was simply carrying out his instructions from the directors. I saw Mr. J. J. Daly, who went with me to see Mr. Galennie about the matter, and he agrees with me in the opinion that Mr. Galennie was not personally responsible for our not getting the hall. We tried to see some of the members of the Hall Committee but failed, because it was Fair week and they were hard to find. We were told that we could give nothing but a sacred concert for some church purpose, and as we could not or would not disguise the purpose of the thing we gave it up."

The plan Mr. O'Connor and Mr. Daly had in view was to have Mr. Gilmore give a concert to-morrow night for the purpose of raising money to send to the famine fund in Ireland. Judge Normile had promised to secure the services of the band, as he is very intimate with Gilmore, but Mr. O'Connor stated that when he and Mr. Daly called upon Judge Normile and asked him to accompany them to the Exposition when they went to submit the proposition to Mr. Gilmore, Judge Normile pleaded other engagements, and the two gentlemen were compelled to go without him. When Mr. Gilmore was put in possession of the facts he said he thought it advisable for the hall to be secured first, after which the best thing to be done would be for the committee to appear before the full band and submit the proposition to them.

Judge Normile, however, did not lend his assistance in any way and the whole burden fell upon Messrs. Daly and O'Connor. Judge Normile was seen and said that he had had nothing to do with the affair and did not know why the plan had miscarried.

WHO IS THE HELPER?
The Only McNichols.

"Twas recess and the yard was full
Of teasing, vigorous boys
Who cared not then for rod or rule
Or strictness 'gainst their noise.
The gentle, timid girls aloof
Stood watching all this rout;
And he she liked would have the proof
At four when school was out.

But soon the doleful bell recalled
The sturdy lot from play;
The dullest lad was nigh appalled
With lessons hard that day;
Who was the noblest, greatest man,
The friend to rich and poor?
No need his dog-eared book to scan;
Dick said he knew before.

His answer made the master stare
And all the scholars laugh,
But Dick was true and honest there
And right by more than half.
He had forgotten what he read
Of men long in their graves;
He thought of one alive instead
Whose plan the poor man saves.

"McNichols! why of him you speak?
Of mankind's friend, my boy."
"I do—we pay him by the week;
He gave us all our joy.
He made my father cease to drink
And save his wages too,
And gave us home, and so I think
He's worth a thought—don't you?"

Whatever the school master replied the brave little boy meant well by the best friend he knows—the man who takes small weekly pay and surrounds him with beauties and comforts—mankind's helper. He teaches the laborer to make a bank of his home; to raise his children well.

CONTRACTORS COMPLAIN.

$10,000 SAID TO HAVE BEEN PAID "FOR THE GOOD OF THE PARTY."

Undue Influence to Secure the Big Water-Works Contract Charged by the Defeated Bidders—The Reply of W. B. Thompson for the Worthington Company—Col. Flad on the Subject.

Mr. Wm. B. Thompson is a frequent visitor to the City Hall now. He is the legal adviser of the Worthingtons. He has no doubt of the result of the vote or of any investigation the Council may make into the award of contract to his clients. As most readers of the POST-DISPATCH already know, three big pump manufacturers made bids for the contract for constructing two low service engines for the water works at Chain of Rocks. There was some $40,000 difference between the highest bid, that of the Providence (R. I.) works, and the lowest bid, $299,500, that of the Worthingtons. Mr. Burnett, the President of the Board of Public Improvements, and Water Commissioner Holman, the gentleman in charge of the new work, wanted the board to reject all the bids on the ground that the lowest one, the Worthington bid, was not in strict compliance with the specifications. Sewer Commissioner McMath, Park Commissioner Klem and Mr. Murphy, who was then Harbor and Wharf Commissioner, were in favor of awarding the contract to the lowest bidder, Messrs. Klem and McMath being willing to stake their opinion as civil engineers that the bid of the Worthingtons complied with the specifications called for in the contract, and Mr. Murphy siding with them after he had, he claims, secured an admission from Mr. Holman that the pumps which the Worthingtons proposed to build would or could be made to fill the bill. The Worthington members were in a majority, but there was a vacancy in the board and it was necessary to have the votes of four members or a majority of the board to make the award. It all depended on the votes of the new member, and of course there was a struggle on the part of the Worthington people to secure the appointment and confirmation of a man favorable to their bid, the Holly and Providence people working just as hard to place a man in the board who would vote with President Burnet and Commissioner Holman, for if all the bids were rejected, they would have an equal chance with the Worthingtons on the new letting. The result of the contest is well known. Mr. Murphy was transferred to the head of the Street Department and Capt. Dan Able was appointed Harbor and Wharf Commissioner. The nominations were confirmed by the Council, and at the next meeting of the Board of Public Improvements the contract for building the pumps at Chain-of-Rocks was awarded to the Worthingtons. Just what influence was brought to bear to secure the confirmation of Messrs. Able and Murphy is not known, the reports circulated by the friends of the Holly and Providence people not having as yet been established and perhaps never will be, although an effort in that direction is to be made before the committee to whom the contract is to be submitted in the Council. The contract as well as the bond of the Worthingtons must be approved by the Council, and it is customary to refer such matters first to a committee. The bond must also be approved by the Mayor, but there is no question as to the security of the bond, for it is signed by the American Assurity Co., and the amount is only $10,000. The bond will be referred to the Committee on Public Improvements, consisting of Messrs. Vogel, Metcalf and Horton.

It is before this committee that the Holly people will make their protest. They are to lead the fight, but will be assisted by the Providence folks. The ground of the protest will be the claims that the bid of the Worthingtons does not comply with the specifications of the contract, but it will also be shown, if necessary, that both the Providence Co. and the Holly Co. were approached by well-known politicians, who claimed that the contract could be secured for either company for $10,000. A similar proposition is also said to have been made to the Worthington Co., but who was to get the money was not stated, although a prominent city official has since been informed that it was used "for the good of the party." Which party was not stated, but the supposition is that the Democratic party was meant. Just how an addition of $10,000 to the Democratic campaign fund could secure the Worthingtons or either of the other companies the contract is a mystery still to be solved.

Capt. Able's appointment as Harbor and Wharf Commissioner was unanimously confirmed by the Council, and Mr. Murphy's appointment was confirmed by the votes of Messrs. Bensiek, Comfort, Ganahl, Hoolan, Rohan, Sloan and Walbridge, a bare majority of the Council, Messrs. Cole, Horton, Meier, Metcalfe and Nelson voting "no," and Mr. Vogel being absent.

THE WORTHINGTON CO.'S REPLY.

When seen this morning in regard to the ugly rumors referred to above, Mr. W. B. Thompson said that there was not a particle of truth in them so far as his connection with them was concerned, or the connection of any person associated with the Worthington Co. "I have heard of these reports before," he said, "but I take no stock in them. I heard that all the pump manufacturers were approached and were assured that the contract could be had for money, but I know positively that neither Mr. Worthington nor myself was approached and that neither of us nor any other person connected with our company has used any unfair influence to secure the contract. The idea that money has been paid is, of course, ridiculous and should not be seriously entertained. I don't believe that money was paid by any company, and so far as I can learn the men who made the proposition to the pump companies had no influence whatever. They were young fellows who aspired to great things, but who could accomplish nothing whatever alone, and I heard of no influential politicians being behind the scheme. I never heard who the young men were, and, as I said before, I put very little faith in the story.

NO UNDUE INFLUENCE USED.

"As to using our influence on members of the Council or Board of Public Improvements we have done nothing of the kind. Mr. Murphy never met a single member of our company in his life, and Capt. Able is not a man I would expect favors from, for he and I had a little difficulty in politics some time ago and we have not spoken since. Not a single man of our company has spoken to either Mr. Murphy or Capt. Able on the subject, and not a particle of influence was used by us or any of us to secure Mr. Murphy's confirmation as Street Commissioner or Able's as Harbor Commissioner.

"What do I know about the bids and specifications? Well, I know that ours was the lowest bid by $40,000 and that the designs we presented come up to the specifications. Mr. Holman and Mr. Burnett claimed at first that there was a variance between the valvular area called for in the specifications and the valvular area presented in our designs, but we showed them that there was no such variance and I believe Mr. Holman now agrees with me. But even if there is a difference, as at first claimed, our company will construct the engines according to the specifications under Mr. Holman's directions.

ORIGIN OF THE TROUBLE.

"The whole trouble was brought on, I think, by a young draftsman named Dean, who was formerly in the employ of Mr. Levett, the great civil engineer of Boston. He found out in some way the particular kind of design Mr. Holman wanted, and then made his plans accordingly and called them Levett's plans or Levett's engine. We can prove that he peddled these plans around, offering them to several pump manufacturers, the Fulton Iron Works of this city being of the number. Finally he found a purchaser at Providence, R. I., in the Builders' Foundry company, and they sent in their bid. Now, mind you, this company does not build engines, and never has, and it offered to transfer the contract, if it got it, to the Fulton Iron-works of this city for $12,000. The three largest engine builders of this country are the Worthington company, the largest and oldest of all, located at Brooklyn; the Holly company at Lockport, N. Y., and the Allis company of Milwaukee. Mr. Allis died only a few months ago, and for that reason the Milwaukee company put in no bid. The highest bidder was the Builders' Foundry company, the next highest the Holly company, and the lowest the Worthington company. Now, as Dean's company bid $40,000 more than Worthington the Board of Public Improvements could hardly have awarded the contract to them even though their valvular measurements were exactly correct; and the valvular measurements presented by the Holly people were the same as ours and so the contract could have been awarded to them with our bid the lowest, and therefore there was nothing for the board to do except to award us the contract and save the city $40,000. According to the calls for bids, every bidder could present his own designs, and if Mr. Holman wanted fly-wheel engines he should have said so at the start and put it in the specifications. Our designs are for direct acting pumps. The two pumps that do most of the pumping at the water-works at Bissel's Point were made by Worthington, and our company's reputation is second to none in the country.

"Another thing, you will find that Mr. Holman has a letter from Mr. Levett, in which he repudiates the plans made by his old employe, and points out some serious defects in them.

THE WORK TO BE DONE IN ST. LOUIS.

"I would prefer not to be interviewed about this matter, but if you are going to say anything about it at all, I want you to set us right and also to say that, if Mr. Worthington gets the contract, one half of the amount received for it, $300,000, will be expended in this city for labor and material. Nearly 2,000 hands are employed in the works at Brooklyn, and the work could all be done there, but when our bid was first made I urged Mr. Worthington to have most of the work done in St. Louis if he got the contract. At first he found that all of the St. Louis iron companies were overloaded with work and could not do any of the heavy casting for the St. Louis Waterworks, but after the bids were submitted and the contract awarded, Mr. Allen of the Fulton Iron Works changed his mind, and consented to do the work requested of him by Mr. Worthington, and all arrangements have since been perfected for the casting of all the heavy work here in St. Louis. Mr. Worthington is not in the city now and has not been for several weeks."

COL. FLAD'S OPINION.

Col. Henry Flad, who was President of the Board of Public Improvements for thirteen years, was met on the street and asked his opinion of the board's action in awarding the contract to the Worthington Co. "I don't see how they could have done anything else," he replied. There is no better engine building company in the country than the Worthington and the fact that the design they presented does not agree exactly in valve measurements with the specifications would in my opinion be no good ground for rejecting the bid, if by so doing the city would lose $40,000. The company can be compelled if it accepts the contract to make the pumps exactly according to the specifications, whether their original design tallies with them or not."

Col. Flad knows nothing about the charges of bribery and other undue influence charged in connection with the awarding of the contract.

"The Two Johns."

John W. Dunn, the gentleman who represented the old Twenty-fifth Ward in the House of Delegates for five or six terms, is receiving the congratulations of his friends on his appointment to the position of Assistant City Treasurer. He is very thankful for the good wishes of his friends, but desires to inform them that there is more than one John W. Dunn in the city. Treasurer Foerstel's new assistant is John W. Dunn, who until recently was Assistant City Auditor.

Had a White Wife.

A permit for the burial of Sing Ham in Wesleyan Cemetery was issued by the Health Department this morning. Sing was the Chinaman run over and killed by a cable train of the Franklin Avenue Line a couple of days ago. He belonged to the Chinese Sunday-school and had a white wife. He was 45 years old and kept a laundry near Grand and Easton avenues.

Boring for Rock.

The borers of the Sewer Department are encountering a great deal of rock in Rock Springs, where borings are being made for 13,900 feet of district sewers in the new sewer district called Rock Springs District No. 1. The object of the borings is to ascertain the depth and character of the rock along the lines of the proposed sewers, to enable the department to make its estimates of the cost of the sewers, as the letting of the work to contractors is to a large extent based upon these estimates. The district embraces about seventy-five acres and is bounded by Papin street and the Clayton road and Boyle avenue and Rock Springs sewer. Another district just south of this has also been laid out and is to be called Rock Springs District No. 2. It embraces about ninety acres and lies between the old and the new Manchester roads. When all this work is done, Rock Springs and vicinity will have about six miles of district sewers, all emptying into the Mill Creek public sewer.

"I can't see that Rock Springs has changed much in forty years," said Assistant Sewer Commissioner Wise this morning. "I helped survey the Missouri Pacific Railroad through Rock Springs nearly forty years ago, and the town looks to me now about the same as it did then. Building railroads was quite a feat in those days I can tell you. It took three years to build the line to Kirkwood."

City Hall Notes.

The contract for the grocery supplies for the city institutions for the next quarter has been divided between Mr. Dougherty, E. B. Stone and Henry Bruch.

Dr. Steinmetz, of the City Dispensary, sewed up an ugly wound this morning over the left eye of Dietrich Brunnenkamp, who fell down stairs at Seventh and Clark avenue.

City Counselor Bell returned this morning from Jefferson City, where he argued the city's mandamus suit against the Gas company before the Supreme Court, to compel the company to reduce the price of its gas to 90 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, the price now charged being $1.18. Judge Madill and Messrs. Bond & Adams represented the company in the argument.

Eight new arc lights were lit for the first time last night and will be kept burning regularly every night hereafter. They are located as follows: Chouteau and Cabanne avenues; Chouteau avenue railroad crossing; Chouteau avenue between Missouri Pacific railway and Manchester road; Eighteenth and Walnut streets; north end of Fourteenth street bridge; Sixth and Elm streets; Lucky and Cora streets; and Cora street between Cote Brilliante avenue and North Market street.

Capt. James Hardy is a success, not only in removing slops but also in collecting money for churches. The corner-stone of the new Catholic church on Rose Hill is to be laid next Sunday afternoon, and Capt. Hardy, who is to be Grand Marshal of the procession, has collected over $500 for the church. He got most of the money, he says, from real estate dealers, but the City Hall contributed a fair portion.

TWENTY-FIRST STREET BRIDGE.

Ordinance for the Steel Work Opposed by the Board of Public Improvements.

The Board of Public Improvements met this forenoon, with all the members present.

The Board awarded the contracts for reconstructing Laclede avenues between Grand and Leffingwell avenue and Lucas avenue between Garrison and Grand avenues to Steifel & Ruechert for $21,581.56 and $25,555.20 respectively.

The board approved ordinances for the construction of a new bridge on Weber road over Gravois creek and the reconstruction of the flooring of the east Jefferson avenue bridge; also an ordinance for the repeal of the ordinance authorizing the construction of an iron bridge on the Columbia Bottom road over Moline creek.

The board further approved ordinances for the reconstruction of the bridge on Knox avenue, over River des Peres, the reconstruction of the roadway of the north approach to the Eighteenth street bridge, and the construction of the steel work of the superstructure of the Twenty-first street bridge at a cost of $130,000.

A big batch of ordinances for street improvements, favorably passed upon at previous meetings, were reported by the Committee on Streets and Alleys and were approved and will be sent to the Municipal Assembly to-night.

At 12 o'clock bids were opened for the improvement with Telford pavement of Cabanne avenue, between Belt and Goodfellow avenues; Lafayette, between Mississippi and Jefferson avenues, and Lafayette avenue from Jefferson avenue to within 173 feet of Theresa avenue. J. B. O'Meara was the lowest bidder for the first contract named, J. E. Willis for the second, and A. O. Engelmann for the third.

THEY WILL DISBAND.

THE FIRST REGIMENT, N. G. M., IN A GRAVE DILEMMA.

Unless the State Aids the Local Troops They Must Go to Pieces—A Peculiar Armory Muddle—How the City May Come to the Rescue.

The withdrawal of the Citizens' Committee from the financial support of the local militia has brought matters to a peculiar climax in the military situation in St. Louis, and leaves the First Regiment N. G. M. in a decidedly bad shape. With all hope of further assistance from the citizens dispelled by the committee's action, and with no prospect of aid from the State earlier than probably January, 1891, if it comes at all, and with current expenses amounting to nearly $400 per month to be met, the prospects for a financial entanglement are extremely marked, and the local regiment officers are dismayed at the sudden crisis in military matters.

The letter written by the Citizens' Committee to Col. Comfort in notifying him of their unexpected action, explains itself and reads as follows:

THE CITIZENS' COMMITTEE LETTER.

Col. C. D. Comfort:

DEAR SIR—We find our collections for the support and maintenance of the militia are entirely exhausted, and from this time on they can receive no aid from the citizens' committee. We regret this more than the militia. We have received less and less every year, and that with reluctance, showing plainly that the citizens are tired of doing what plainly is the duty of the State to do.

The armory is in good condition, having been kept repaired out of the fund. The quarters are in first-class condition, due to the neatness and care of the men. They and you have the best wishes of the committee and we will be glad to be of service as citizens and friends.

The balance as per statement will be paid to you by our treasurer, Samuel Cupples, Esq., on demand. Very respectfully yours,

W. A. HARGADINE, Chairman.
SAMUEL CUPPLES, Treasurer.

COL. COMFORT ON THE SITUATION.

The balance turned over to Col. Comfort by Treasurer Cupples amounted to $111.88, and against that fund there is already due a ground rent payment of $275. So that the First Regiment is now insolvent, and with no prospect whatever of immediate financial aid. The most peculiar feature of the militia troubles is that the Armory, costing with improvements over $40,000, will, if money to meet the ground rent is not raised, revert to the owners of the property on which the building stands, the property itself being worth only about $20,000. Col. Comfort discussed this startling probability this morning, saying that he had recognized the danger of such a contingency as the present, and for a year past had been endeavoring to pursuade the Citizens' Committee to purchase the property and thus avoid the risk of having to surrender the armory to the owners of the site. Nothing had been done in the matter, however. The detailed expenses under which the First Regiment is placed at the armory are given by Col. Comfort as follows: Ground rent, $1,100; janitor and engineer, $2,000; insurance, repairs, etc., about $900; making a total of $4,000 per year which must be met. Col. Comfort stated that the First Regiment, should the military bill be passed this winter, would receive about $10,000 a year from the State. He had hopes that the bill would pass, and in the meantime nothing else could be done. Should the bill fail to pass, the Armory would have to be abandoned, and while one or two companies might keep up their existence under the State law, the First Regiment would be forced to disband.

AID FROM THE CITY.

It is also hoped that the city will come to the rescue in the matter, as it is empowered to do by the State law. Sec. 6978 of art. 9 of the Military Code of Missouri reads:

All cities within the State of 100,000 inhabitants and over, shall enlarge, add to and extend the halls, armories and headquarters used and occupied by the respective police forces thereof, and permit, under such reasonable restrictions as they may impose, the joint occupancy of such halls, armories and headquarters by the National Guard of Missouri forces of such cities and the police forces thereof. Such improvements shall be made in the same manner and paid for by the same means as though such police force had been enlarged to a number equal to the aggregate number of such National Guard of Missouri and police forces.

Sec. 6979. All cities and counties within this State are hereby authorized to raise money, by taxation or otherwise, for the purpose of providing suitable drill halls, armories and headquarters for such organizations of the National Guard of Missouri as may be located therein.

Under the latter clause it is claimed that the city should take steps to support the armory for the regiment, and it is probable that a strong effort will be made to bring about such a result.

Col. Comfort states that no meeting of the Board of Regimental Officers will be called, as there is nothing the board could do to change the situation at present. It looks as if the First Regiment had suddenly and unexpectedly arrived at the closing point in its history as a regiment.

TIME-EXPIRED MEN.

About Half the First Regiment Became So Yesterday.

A circumstance that may have a strong bearing upon the present trouble in the First Regiment, possibly precipitating the disbandment, is the fact that on yesterday the three-year term of nearly one-third the enlisted men of the regiment expired, and these men are to-day out of the State service unless they choose to re-enlist. On Oct. 18, 1887, four companies of the present First Regiment were sworn into the State service, viz.: Companies A, F, E, and G. Of the enlisted men then sworn in of course some have dropped out during the three years' service, but nevertheless the members who become "time-expired men" yesterday are sufficiently strong in numbers to materially weaken the regiment should they decide not to again enter the State service. According to the military code of Missouri they have thirty days in which to signify their intention. With the exception of sixteen time-expired members of Company F, who intend leaving the service on account of opposition to the commanding officer of Company F, Lieut. R. E. Lee, most of the time-expired militia had proposed re-enlisting, but it is feared that with the present prospect of the regiment disbanding, they will now leave the State service in a body, allowing the expiration of their three years' term to sever the connection.

Capt. McEntire's Election Nullified.

The first instance on record in regimental history where an officer elected to commissioned rank failed to qualify and thereby lost his claim to a commission from the Governor, developed to-day at noon. At that hour Adjutant Batdorf mailed the following official order, emanating from the Adjutant-General's office, to Lieut. Allen of Company C.

HEADQUARTERS STATE OF MISSOURI,
CITY OF JEFFERSON, Oct. 13, 1890.

Special Orders, No. 42.

Capt. Walter McEntire having failed to qualify and fit himself for the position of Captain of Company C, First Regiment, N. G. M., the enlisted men of this company will meet at the Armory Saturday, Oct. 18, and proceed to the election of a Captain, and to fill any vacancy which may occur by reason of such election.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,
J. A. WICKHAM,
Adjutant-General.

The order had been issued Monday last, but was not published until to-day, as it was hoped Capt. McEntire would qualify during the week. His failure to do so throws him back into the rank and file.

Fire on North Broadway.

About 3:15 o'clock this morning Officer McNamara discovered a fire on the second floor of the building at 308 and 310 North Broadway, occupied by the Berlin Novelty Co. He sent in an alarm from box 43, and the department soon extinguished the blaze. The stock of the Berlin Novelty Co. was damaged to the amount of $2,000, principally by water. The loss on the building is about $200. The cause of the fire is not known.

NOT GAIENNIE'S FAULT.

Why the Concert for the Irish Famine Fund Failed—Normile's Promise.

Mr. E. J. O'Connor, in speaking of the failure to secure the Music Hall for a concert to be given by Gilmore for the benefit of the famine-stricken Irish, said to-day: "I do not want to be placed in the position of saying that our failure to secure the hall was due to Mr. Gaiennie personally, but that Mr. Gaiennie's reasons were that he was simply carrying out his instructions from the directors. I saw Mr. J. J. Daly, who went with me to see Mr. Gaiennie about the matter, and he agrees with me in the opinion that Mr. Gaiennie was not personally responsible for our not getting the hall. We tried to see some of the members of the Hall Committee but failed, because it was Fair week and they were hard to find. We were told that we could give nothing but a sacred concert for some church purpose, and as we could not or would not disguise the purpose of the thing we gave it up."

The plan Mr. O'Connor and Mr. Daly had in view was to have Mr. Gilmore give a concert to-morrow night for the purpose of raising money to send to the famine fund in Ireland. Judge Normile had promised to secure the services of the band, as he is very intimate with Gilmore, but Mr. O'Connor stated that when he and Mr. Daly called upon Judge Normile and asked him to accompany them to the Exposition when they went to submit the proposition to Mr. Gilmore, Judge Normile pleaded other engagements, and the two gentlemen were compelled to go without him. When Mr. Gilmore was put in possession of the facts he said he thought it advisable for the hall to be secured first, after which the best thing to be done would be for the committee to appear before the full band and submit the proposition to them.

Judge Normile, however, did not lend his assistance in any way and the whole burden fell upon Messrs. Daly and O'Connor. Judge Normile was seen and said that he had had nothing to do with the affair and did not know why the plan had miscarried.

"For some years, at the return of spring, I had serious trouble with my kidneys. I was unable to sleep nights, and suffered greatly with pains in the small of my back. I was also afflicted with headache, loss of appetite, and indigestion. These symptoms were much worse last spring, especially the trouble with my back. A friend persuaded me to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I began taking it, and my troubles all disappeared."—Mrs. Genevra Belanger, 24 Bridge st., Springfield, Mass.

WHO IS THE HELPER?

The Only McNichols.

"Twas recess and the yard was full
Of teasing, vigorous boys
Who cared not then for rod or rule
Or strictness 'gainst their noise.
The gentle, timid girls aloof
Stood watching all this rout;
And he she liked would have the proof
At four when school was out.

But soon the doleful bell recalled
The sturdy lot from play;
The dullest lad was nigh appalled
With lessons hard that day;
Who was the noblest, greatest man,
The friend to rich and poor?
No need his dog-eared book to scan;
Dick said he knew before.

His answer made the master stare
And all the scholars laugh,
But Dick was true and honest there
And right by more than half.
He had forgotten what he read
Of men long in their graves;
He thought of one alive instead
Whose plan the poor man saves.

"McNichols! why of him you speak?
Of mankind's friend, my boy."
"I do—we pay him by the week;
He gave us all our joy.
He made my father cease to drink
And save his wages too,
And gave us home, and so I think
He's worth a thought—don't you?"

Whatever the school master replied the brave little boy meant well by the best friend he knows—the man who takes small weekly pay and surrounds him with beauties and comforts—mankind's helper. He teaches the laborer to make a bank of his home to raise his children well.

The Union Labor bosses in the Stebbins-Curley-Blake-Holland combination are hard at work to-day trying to force the Republican candidates they have indorsed to pay the assessments levied by their committee. Up to last evening all of the candidates indorsed by them had paid up excepting Sheriff Pohlman, Circuit Attorney Clover, Thomas B. Rodgers and Willis Clark. All these candidates excepting Pohlman, of course, were called upon several days ago to pay enormous assessments to the Republican Committee, and when they did this they felt that there was no good reason why they should respond to the exorbitant demands of the Union Labor leaders. The latter went in on the theory that a Union Labor nomination was worth nearly as much as a place on the Republican ticket and the assessments were made accordingly. Willis Clark, the Republican nominee for Prosecuting Attorney, for instance, had no sooner received a notice to pay $700 to the Republican Committee than he was asked to pay half that amount to the Union Labor politicians. The assessments against Wood, Clover, Hobbs, Rodgers and the other Republicans indorsed by them were in proportion.

TO FORCE PAYMENT.

Last evening the Labor politicians met and decided to withhold the notifications of the candidates who neglected to respond to the demands of the Executive Committee. The leaders in the Labor party are shrewd workers. They anticipated some objections from the candidates on the size of the assessments, and for that reason withheld the notifications which must be made to Recorder Williams before to-night. They say that every candidate who fails to pay up will not have his name reported as a nominee of the Labor Convention that met nearly four weeks ago in Central Turner Hall. This afternoon the leaders in the party are at work on the candidates and expect to have all the assessments paid in before to-night and if this is done all the nominations will be certified to in due form, as is required by the ballot reform law.

CHAIRMAN SWAINE'S DENIAL.

Fred Swaine, Chairman of the Executive Committee, said late this afternoon that the report that some of the Republican candidates had refused to pay their assessments was untrue. "These assessments," he said, "have been made reasonable, and there has been no objection from any of the candidates. The ticket will be filed in the Recorder's office as it was nominated in Central Turner Hall with one exception. Mr. Schulenburg has declined to run for Judge of the Probate Court and our committee has indorsed Judge Woerner."

It was learned from other sources, however, that all was not right and that the candidates holding out would only pay what they saw fit, instead of paying the full assessments levied on them.

The committee will before evening, it is expected, make a compromise with the objecting candidates, and then file the notifications in full, as this is the last day they will be received.

Why the Republican Candidates Complain.

There will be a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Republican City Committee late this afternoon and a meeting of the general organization at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. Most of the candidates on the city ticket are very indignant over the lofty assessments imposed on them and two or three of them are holding out for a reduction. Horatio D. Wood, Ashley C. Clover, Recorder Hobbs, Dan Siegmund and a few others have sent in their checks, with the understanding, however, that they would ask for a reduction. The imposition of a tax of $1,200 for the privilege of running for an office is considered beyond the bounds of reason by the candidates who have paid that much.

The friends of Mr. Talty, the Republican candidate for Judge of the Criminal Court, insist that $800 is too much to ask him to pay, particularly in view of the fact that prominent Republicans are known to be knifing him in favor of Col. Bob Claiborne, his Democratic opponent. A lively wrangle between the committee and the candidates is expected unless the assessments are reduced.

O'Malley's Depositions.

At 12 o'clock to-day Attorney Thomas J. Rowe, who represents Patrick O'Malley in his mandamus proceedings against Secretary of State Lesueur to compel that official to recognize him as the Eighth District Democratic Congressional nominee, began taking depositions in his office at 622 Chestnut street. Among the witnesses summoned were Chairman Maffitt of the State Committee, Mayor Noonan, John B. O'Meara, Tom Barrett, William P. Macklind and others connected with the old Congressional Committee. At 12 o'clock the only witnesses present were William P. Macklind, John B. O'Meara and O'Malley.

Macklin was the first witness sworn. He testified that he was a member of the committee that arranged the convention at North St. Louis Turner Hall, which resulted in the nomination of two persons for Congress. The questions asked by Attorney Rowe were of course aimed to bring out testimony favorable to O'Malley's claim. Macklin testified that the committee was invested with the right to arrange for the primary election and convention. The committee, he said, did its duty, and at the convention there was a dispute which resulted in the selection of O'Neill and O'Malley by two different conventions. He said nothing about the outrageous conduct of the committeemen on the methods resorted to by them to suppress O'Neill votes at the primary. He did testify, however, that the convention which nominated O'Malley was the regular organization from the standpoint of the Barrett-Macklin-O'Meara anti-O'Neill combination. The witness was examined at great length by Attorney Rowe and answers were given to every question.

John B. O'Meara sat in the room and was a wrapt listner to everything that was said. Near him was Mr. W. C. Marshall, who represented the State Democratic Committee to sustain the right it exercised in interfering in the Eight District affairs to prevent party disruption. Secretary Frank Walker of the State Committee was also present for a short while ready to supply a big batch of documentary evidence if it was called for.

The O'Malley side of the contest has six days for the taking of depositions, and Secretary Lesueur will have ten to take evidence in rebuttal. It is about settled that the election will be past and gone before the Supreme Court will be ready to pass on O'Malley's claims.

WHAT THE PROCEEDINGS MEAN.

The Macklin-Barrett-O'Meara combination are not fighting so much for O'Malley as they are to secure the recognition of the Congressional Committee selected in the O'Malley convention. The Congressional Committee will have the arrangements to make for the convention in 1892 and its members want to be in a position to have the granting of the nomination. This is understood to be the reason of the proceedings. O'Malley is not in it at all—it is simply a squabble to restore the powers wrested from Barrett, Macklin and the other anti-O'Neill politicians who created the disturbance in the Eighth District Democratic camp.

Awaiting Nelson's Answer.

Mr. N. O. Nelson will this evening reply to the request of the Ninth District free traders asking him to make the race for Congress on an anti-tariff platform. Mr. Nelson will, it is generally believed, decline to make the race on account of his extensive business interests and in this event he will fully set forth his reasons and also explain his views on the tariff question and other matters. The free traders are thoroughly in earnest and are very anxious to have him accept the nomination.

St Louis County Politics.

There will be a primary election in every one of the five townships in St. Louis County to-day for the election of a new Democratic Central Committee. The new committee will meet in Clayton Monday to effect an organization. The old committee is averse to putting a county ticket in the field on account of the large Republican majority that would have to be overcome, and at the meeting of the new organization Monday this idea will be either indorsed or repudiated.

The Republican Executive Committee will also meet Monday in Clayton to make arrangements for a number of campaign meetings which will be held in various places in the county. The campaign will be formally opened next Wednesday evening at Kirkwood.

Political Notes.

Tuesday evening next the Prohibitionists will have a ratification meeting at the Courthouse. The speakers will be Rev. H. A. Slaughter, A. Grassely, Sheridan Webster and others.

The Republicans of the Twenty-sixth Ward will have a ratification meeting to-night at Goode and Kennerly avenues. Chas. F. Joy, Sheriff Pohlman and others have been invited to attend.

Lumber Cut in the Northwest.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 18.—Lumbermen are figuring on the cut of the season preparatory to closing down. The cut this year will exceed that of last year by several million feet. The estimate places it at not less than 325,000,000 feet and not more than 350,000,000 feet. The season as a whole has been prosperous, the demand for lumber being good and the price profitable. The lumbermen generally are not arranging to cut as many logs next winter as they did last, but do not mean that there will be any less lumber cut next year. On the contrary some of the lumbermen think that next season will be the banner sawing year and that the product will reach 400,000,000 feet. There are now more logs in the Mississippi River than ever before.

ALBERT WHITEFIELD KILLS GRANDISON JONES ON THE BATON ROUGE.

The Shooting the Result of a Grudge—Chas. Newton, a Bystander, Struck by a Stray Bullet—The Murderer Arrested and Locked Up—His Statement.

Shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon Albert Whitefield killed Grandison Jones, putting three bullets into his body. The shooting took place on board the steamer Baton Rouge, lying at the foot of Market street. Charles Newton was shot through the neck by a stray bullet. Whitefield was arrested.

All the parties concerned in the affray are colored. Jones, it seems, was captain of the watch on the Baton Rouge and superintended the operations of the negro deckhands. He had quarreled with Whitefield about two weeks ago while on a trip down the river. In consequence of this Whitefield was discharged as soon as the boat tied up at St. Louis. He charged Jones with conspiring to throw him out of employment, and at the time is alleged to have made threats to get even with the man for his work.

WITHOUT WARNING.

Jones was at work on the lower deck this afternoon handling freight when Whitefield and another negro came up the gangplank on board. Whitefield walked forward to where Jones stood and commenced to talk with him. Jones paid little attention to the man and continued his work. Suddenly Whitefield was seen to draw a revolver from his hip pocket. He at once opened fire on Jones, emptying the chambers in rapid succession. As sood as Jones realized his danger he, too, commenced to shoot. He had time to fire only three shots when he fell to the deck.

At the first shot there was a scattering of the roustabouts at work an the boat. Officers Cavanaugh, Tobin and McDuffy were in the vicinity and came up on a run. At that moment Whitefield ran down the gangplank to the shore and away up the Levee. The officers gave chase, and after running about three blocks succeeded in overhauling the fugitive. Upon returning to the Baton Rouge Jones was found to be unconscious and sinking fast. In less than five minutes he was a corpse. An examination of the remains showed that three of the five balls fired by Whitefield had taken effect in his victim's body. One had passed through the heart, while two others had lodged in the abdomen. All three were necessarily fatal wounds. Another negro named Charles Newton was found to be suffering from a wound in the neck, having received a ball just above the left shoulder before he could conceal himself. It is not known which of the men fired the ball which struck the man.

THE MURDERER CAPTURED.

Whitefield was locked up at the Chestnut Street Police Station. He is only 20 years old and works on the steamboats and wharfs. Jones was a married man 46 years old who lived with his wife and children in the rear of 710 Market street. His body was sent to the Morgue. Newton's wound was dressed at the dispensary. The man was then forwarded to the City Hospital. He is not dangerously hurt.

THE MURDERER IN THE HOSPITAL.

When Whitefield was taken to the Chestnut Street Station he denied having shot Jones and said he did not know how it occurred. Officer McGuffy says he has several witnesses who saw the fight and claims Jones shot at Whitefield three times. Whitefield then ran into him, threw up Jones' arm, and placing a revolver at his side, fired. The bullet tore through Jones' coat and a small memorandum book, and carried the cloth and paper into his body. Jones was shot through the heart and died instantly. A revolver was found on Whitefield with one chamber empty. He claims he took it from Jones, but the facts do not bear out his story. The officers were about to lock Whitefield up when they examined a bullet wound on his wrist and found the wrist bone had been broken by one of Jones' shots. Whitefield was then sent to the City Hospital as a prisoner.

ON THE EVE OF A RIOT.

A SERIOUS RACE WAR THREATENED AT NEW ORLEANS.

Growing Out of the Assassination of Chief Hennessey—Revelations Concerning the Murderous Sicilian Societies—Meeting of the Committee of Safety—A Ship Load of Italians Who Will Not Be Permitted to Land.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 18.—It seems certain that the city is on the eve of a bloody race riot. Not only has it been learned that Chief of Police Hennessey was murdered by the Mafia, one of the Sicilian societies of this city, but the astounding revelation was made last night that the murderers had planned to kill a number of other officials. Public feeling is strongly against the Italian colony and the least thing would precipitate a riot.

A steamship is now on her way up the river from Italy with over 800 immigrants on board, and a determination is expressed to prevent their landing. The police last night searched the residence of one of the men arrested for the murder of Chief Hennessey and found a detailed plan to assassinate all city or State officers who acted counter to the wishes of the Mafia. The cause of the killing of Chief Hennessey dates back to last spring, when certain members of this society known as the Provinzanos gang waylaid and shot into a wagon load of rival Italians one night. The police secured enough evidence to convict the perpetrators of the attempted assassination, who were sentenced to life imprisonment. A new trial was granted, and it was set for next week. Chief Hennessey had possessed himself of important information in regard to the workings of the Mafia, and it was believed that on the trial of the case he would expose the inside workings of this band of assassins. The possession of this knowledge and his avowed determination to break up the Mafia were without doubt the causes that led to his murder.

The Committee of Safety.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 18.—The Committee of Fifty, who comprise the leading men of all professions and business, will hold their first meeting to-night in the Council Chamber.

In appointing the committee the Mayor advises immediate and determined action to ferret out and to help to bring to justice the members of the murderous element in our midst, that strike down the chief executive of police and threaten representatives of the municipality for no other crime than doing their duty. Jos. Machesca and the other leading Italians against whom affidavits were made yesterday after the shooting and partial confession of Scoffidi, were arrested this morning charged with being accessories to the murder of Hennessy.

Resolutions Adopted.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 18.—At a special meeting of the Council at noon, Mayor Shakespeare's message was read denouncing in the most positive terms the murder by Sicilians through hired assassins. That terrible secret order exists in New Orleans, and that in this instance the Chief of Police was assassinated for doing his duty in enforcing American laws; that any citizen performing his duty or under any circumstances creating enmity of these people had the dread sentence of death passed on him and carried out by assassins, who divulge nothing, say nothing, know nothing. That the same leading Italians are at the head of these orders while others more peaceably inclined and not belonging thereto are blackmailed and threatened with death or obliged to leave the city if they do not comply. That this state of affairs has gone on long enough and must be stopped. The Council is called on to take initiative steps to drive, if necessary these people from the United States. Councilman Brittin offered a resolution, which was adopted, that the Mayor appoint a committee of fifty or more, if he deem proper, to thoroughly investigate these secret orders and report.

The Next Victim.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 18.—1 p. m.—The Mayor has just received a communication notifying him that he will be the next victim. Shakespeare says that this will not deter him from doing his duty. He appointed the committee of fifty to hunt out the vendetta which will then be wiped out forever from New Orleans.

LIVE STOCK.

Union Stock Yards.

DON N. PALMER, Manager. Closing hour, 3 p. m.

Cattle—There were but few cattle at the yards to-day. All desirable grades are in strong demand at prices better by 10c per 100 lbs than a week ago. There is an active inquiry for native steers, heifers and butcher cows, but there is no improvement at all on common grades. Good feeders are selling well at from $2.50 to $3. The market closed strong this afternoon with good prospects for next week on all decent stock. The following prices prevail:

Fancy shipping steers	$4 50@4 90
Good to choice steers	3 60@4 40
Fair to medium	3 00@3 50
Common to light steers	2 00@2 50
Butcher bulls	2 00@2 25
Sausage bulls	1 50@1 75
Sausage cows	1 00@1 25
North Missouri cows and heifers	2 00@2 50
Southwest cows and heifers	1 25@1 75
Good cows and calves	23 00@27 00
Fair to medium	16 00@21 50
Common	10 00@15 50
Stockers	1 75@2 50
Feeders	2 50@3 00
Veal calves	5 00@7 00
Tall ends	1 00@1 50

Hogs—The hog market to-day was barely steady at yesterday's closing prices. The general range of prices was: $3.50 to $3.75 for pigs, medium to good packers, $3.90 to $4.15; good to choice packers, $4.20 to $4.30.

Sheep—The market ruled active and steady to a shade stronger on all grades of mutton that were desirable, but the common kinds are still slow. There has not been enough good sheep to supply the trade any day this week. Quotations are:

Good to choice mutton	$4 00@4 50
Medium to fair	3 60@4 00
Good to choice lambs	4 50@5 25
Common lambs	3 50@4 25
Stock ewes	unsettled.
Stock wethers	3 40@3 60

Among the Traders.

Sheep strong. Hogs barely steady. Common cattle steady. Good cattle strong; active. H. Feidler, Red's, Ill., sent in a lot of hogs to-day. Barney Fisher, Moser's, Ill., had hogs in to-day. L. Ringhouser, Hamburg, Ill., sent in a load of hogs to-day. J. L. McFarland, West End, Ill., had in a load of cattle, hogs and sheep to-day. Henry Scheil, Mountain, Mo., was on the market to-day with cattle, hogs and sheep. W. T. Engle, Beecher, Ill., had in a load of fine hogs to-day. Charles Kinder of Hastings, Ill., was at the yards to-day with a drove of hogs. Henry Voelkert, Martin's, Ill., was in to-day with hogs.

At a meeting of the Union Stock Yards Live Stock Exchange held this day for the purpose to do respect and to arrange to attend the funeral of our late business associate, D. S. Irons, it was resolved: "That we deeply feel the loss of our late business associate. That while his loss to us, a firm and wise counselor in matters pertaining to our calling, we shall sadly miss, we fully and mournfully recognize the irreparable loss sustained by a devoted wife and family, so much nearer and dearer to him who has been taken. That this Exchange will attend the funeral in a body, and that the following pall-bearers will act: H. M. Watson, J. W. Overstreet, Jas. Y. Sanders, S. A. Messerly, Wm. F. Haney, Zeb T. Steele. Resolved, That the live stock merchants and dealers of the National Stock Yards and the Union Stock Yards join in these last sad rites, and that a copy of these resolutions be furnished the bereaved family, the St. Louis POST-DISPATCH and that the same be spread upon the minutes of this Exchange."

ON CHANGE.

Grain and Flour.

Wheat—There was an absence this morning of the bull influences that were used so effectually to hoist prices yesterday. Instead of strong cables and advances abroad the foreign market advices read thus: "Wheat opened firm and closed weaker and 1½d cheaper." "Liverpool spot wheat firm and futures neglected; more disposition to sell." "Closing wheat ½d lower." This decided change of front across the water took all the wind out of the bulls' sails, and as there were no faked up Dornbusch and other statistical statements, and as Dun's business review was bearish, the consequence was a strong desire to sell out, longs not caring about carrying their loads over Sunday. Winter wheat receipts at nearly all points were small, but 728 cars were in at Duluth and Minneapolis and export clearances from Atlantic ports still small—20,000 pks flour and 3,873 bu wheat. Quick to seize their advantage, local bears went in and began hammering the market and all other markets breaking off there was a rapid decline. The unfavorable bank statement and the small clearances for the week were depressing influences and, though there was no further decline after the first early break, the market was heavy and unresponsive to reactions elsewhere. The close was weak with sellers at [illegible] below yesterday. [illegible] sold at $1.02⅛, sold off to $1.01¼ and later did not get above $1.01⅞@1.02, afterwards falling back to $1.01½, and closing at $1.01⅝ asked. May opened at $1.08½, declined to $1.07⅝ and closed at $1.07¾ asked. July sold at 93⅝c. SPOT GRADES were slow and easier. There was some milling and speculative demand for No. 2 red, a little trading in No. 2 Colorado and some inquiry for No. 3 red E. side, but otherwise buyers were scarce and indifferent. No. 2 hard declined ½c and was dull. Sales—No. 2 red—1 car in C. at 99½c, 11 in St L. at 99¼c; for A. and N. $1.00¼ bid. No. 2 hard—18 cars in St. L. at 94½c; for E. side 95c bid. No. 2 Colorado—1 car in St. L at 96½c, 4 in do at 96c. No. 3 red offered at 97c, with 96c bid for regular and 96½c for E. side. No. 4 offered in C. at 93¾c, bid 91½c for E. Rejected offered E. side at 80c and no bids. No. 3 hard not offered, and 87c bid this or E. side. Samples—There were fair offerings for a Saturday, and a fairly good demand for East track samples and sacked lots. Sales—Special bin: 1 car rejected spring at 87c, 1 rejected at 87c, 2 No. 3 98½c. Track, this side—1 car No. 2 at 99½c. East track—1 car No. 3 at 98¼c, 6 No. 2 at $1.01¼. Sacks—68 at 69½c, 5 at 80c, 109 at 90c, 45 at 95c, 80 at 96c, 107 at 97½c, 398 at 98½c, 595 at 99c, 425 at 99½c, 533 at $1.

Corn—The tumble in wheat, continued fine weather and weaker cables induced freer selling this morning. Traders were disposed to regard the price as unwarranted by the situation, that even the short crop did not mean famine prices, and the offerings so far exceeded the demand that a set-back in prices took place. There was a rally from the first decline, but the market sagged off later and became dull, with not much trading. The close was ⅛c lower than yesterday. May opened at 50½c and sold at 50⅝@¾c to 50⅝c to 50½@⅝c, to 50⅜, to 50⅝c, to 50½c, closing at latter. Dec. sold at 48c and Nov. at 48½c. SPOT GRADES were firm, and No. 2 on E. side advanced ½c under competitive buying by order dealers, the latter also paying better prices for No. 2 white and No. 2 color. Sales—No. 2, 1 car in M., 3 E side and 9 in St. L. at 48c, 2 E. side at 48½c, 1 do at 48½c; same bid for more there and St. L. offered at 48c and unsold. No. 2 white—1 car regular and 1 in St. L. at 49¾c, 1 in M at 50c; more regular offered at 49¾c, no bid. No. 2 color—1 car in St. L. at 49½c, 1 E. side at 49¾c. No. 3 white—48½c bid E. side. No. 3—47½c bid E. side. SAMPLES—Strong and ready sale. Sales: 124 sks colory at 51c, 127 white at 51½c, 1,119 do at 52½c, 309 do p t. Sacked lots on orders, 56@57c.

Oats—The future market was strong early and May sold up to 45⅛c, but late eased off to 44⅞c and closed at that. SPOT GRADES nominal, as buyers and sellers were wide apart. No. 2 offered in M. at 41c, bid 40c for E. side. No. 3 offered regular at 41c, bid 39c and 40c bid E. side. No. 2 white offered regular at 43c, bid 41c. Samples—There were fair offerings, but buyers showed no disposition to take hold, preferring to wait until Monday. On the few sales made prices were well sustained. Sales, special qin—8 cars No. 3 at 40c. 4 No. 3 at 40½c, 1 car 3 color at 41c, 1 No. 2 at 41c, 5 No. 3 white at 43c, 5 No. 3 white at 43c, 5 No. 2 white at 43½c. Sacked lots on orders 46@47c.

ON THE STREET.

[The Post-Dispatch quotations are for lots in first hands unless stated otherwise. On orders higher.]

Potatoes show faint signs of picking up, but demand is only for the best stock, the poor and undesirable being as dull as ever. Onions a shade easier on yellow. Cabbage quiet but steady.

The celery market continues demoralized under large stocks on hand and free arrivals, and we advise shippers to heed the advice we give. On Northern as well as Southern consigned vegetables there is only a limited demand, as the home-grown articles are ample for all requirements. To-day's arrivals of home-grown vegetables were only moderate, but sufficient for the demands of buyers out. Prices were about steady. Poultry showed a further improvement on spring chickens and turkeys, and offerings were soon sold, as the demand was good. Game arrived in fair condition generally and receipts were free of everything save grouse, which are strong. Ducks lower. Veals off, as is usually the case on Saturday. Butter holding strong on best grades of both creamery and Dairy. Eggs stiff and better. Apples in large receipts mostly of poor stock, which was dull and weak—good stock, however, firm and in demand. Grapes easier on Ohio concords, but steady otherwise.

Fruit.

Apples—Of the receipts to-day there were three boat-loads (two late yesterday) which alone comprised about 6,000 bbls. These consisted mostly of poor stock, as culls or seconds, slack-packed, wormy, etc., and on which buyers and sellers were apart, resulting in but few sales being made and the levee crowded with unsold lots. Mostly all the choice stock of these receipts are bought up by Eastern and Northern buyers, and St. Louis gets the leavings. It will be seen then that the market on this class of apples is necessarily weak, as buyers will not take hold only at their own figures. On good, sound, well packed, smooth stock the market is firm and full prices are obtainable. We quote: Common at $1.50 mainly; fair to medium at $1.50@2, choice at $2@2.50 and fancy at $2.50@3. Sales—25 bbls slack-packed, damaged Ben Davis at $1.24, 142 fair do at $1.75, 82 winesap at $1.80, 15 do and small Ben Davis and 62 fair Ben Davis at $2, 75 Ben Davis at $2.50, 10 do at $2.75, 1 car choice varieties at $3 delivered.

Grapes—Demand only fair, and in Ohio Concords (some of which were a little out of condition—soft or mouldy) we note a slight decline. The others were about steady, save Delaware which were rather scarce and firm. Sales were (per 9-lb basket): New York and Pennsylvaniaat 28@30c. Ohio—Delaware at 35@45c. Catawba at 25@30c, Concord at 24@27c, and Ives' Seedling, Martha and Elviraat 25c.

Quinces—Season almost at an end. Most of the offerings are generally inferior in quality—small and green, and find slow sale. The range on the near-grown is $1.25@1.50 per bu and 50@75c per ½ bu basket, for fair stock. Ohio quotable at about the same, though choice stock is higher.

Cranberries—Offerings are liberal, but demand is fair at steady prices. Quote: Cape Cod at $8@9 per bbl, and $3@3 25 per bu box, and Wisconsin bell and cherry at $7.50@8 per bbl.

Dried Fruits—Market firm generally, with only a limited supply offering. We quote: Sun-dried apples—Quarters at 7¾@8¼c, peelings and cores at 4@4½c, chopped at 3½@3¾c. Evaporated apples—rings at 10½@11½c, quarters at 9@10c, peelings and cores at 4@4½c, chopped at 3¾@4c. Peaches—sun-dried range from 8c to 9c. Sales: Sun-dried apples—10 sks quarters at 7¾c, 15 at 8c, 14 at 8¼c, 7 at 8⅜c, 13 pkgs skins at 4c. Evaporated apples—4 sks rings at 11¼c, 8 peelings and cores at 4¼c. Peaches—3 sks sun-dried at 8½c.

California Fruit—We quote: Peaches at $1.75@2 and pears at $3 per case. Grapes—Tokay at $4 and Malaga at $7 per keg.

Oranges—We quote (repacked): Florida at $4.25 per box; Jamaica at $4 per box and $8 per bbl., and Louisiana at $4 per box and $7.50 per bbl. Some of the latter coming out of order—soft, green, etc., and sells for less.

Lemons—We quote: Verdelli at $8.50 and Messina at $8 per box, and Malaga at $7 per 420-size case.

Bananas—On orders, choice bunches sell at $1.75@2.25 per bunch.

Cocoanuts—Sell at $5 per 100 and $45 per 1,000.

Vegetables.

Potatoes—Market quiet and possibly a shade better in tone, as the undesirable stock in the hands of dealers showed signs of being lessened. There is an unsupplied demand for good, sound stock—even-sized and free of dry rot at quotations: Northern at 65@75c; Eastern at 70@85c; home-grown receipts at 40@50c. Sales: Northern—1 car Michigan Hebron at 70c, and 1 car Wisconsin Beauty of Hebron at 75c—both delivered.

Onions—Receipts arriving more freely, and the market to-day did not exhibit the firmness noticed during the week. Buyers were holding off anticipating a decline. Only the best stock in demand. Yellow easier. Quote. Northern prime red at $1.15@1.25 and yellow at 90c@$1 per bu in bulk, and former at $2.90@3.15, and latter at $2.75@3 per bbl. Bottom-grown, or small and inferior stock at 50@75c per bu. Sales, delivered—1 car Ohio yellow at $1, 1 do red at $1.20, 1 Wisconsin red at $1.25.

Cabbage—The feeling is still quiet, and buyers are taking hold sparingly, but it is thought the market will pick up, as the future outlook is more favorable. To-day a little better tone noticeable. We quote Northern in crates on orders at $1.50, and in bulk delivered at $8@9 per ton. Home-grown on orders at 75@85c per bbl. Sales: 1 car at $8 and 1 at $9 per ton—delivered.

Tomatoes—Another slight easing off in price is noted under larger offerings than the demand called for. On orders, choice sound sold at 35@40c per bu, and from first hands at 20@25c. Inferior and small at less.

Sweet Potatoes—Market holding steady under a fair demand. We quote: red Bermuda at 50@60c, and red and yellow Nansemond at 70@80c per bu from first hands, and on orders, former at $1.75 and latter at $2.50 per bbl. Sales of Southern consigned lots slow at $1@1.50 per bbl for yellow Nansemond, and 75c@$1 for Queen and Bermuda.

Celery—The situation to-day is as bad if not worse than yesterday, receivers again being compelled to refuse some consignments on account of the already large stocks on hand. Sales were again made to-day at less than express charges. Until the market is ridded of the surplus stock now on hand and the weather turns cooler, we urge shippers to be sparing with their shipments or hold off altogether till the market regains its footing. We omit quotations to-day for the reason that being the last day of the week and dealers not caring to carry stock over Sunday, any price offered invariably effected a sale.

Cauliflower—Sales of northern at 75c@$1.50 per bunch, as to size and quality.

Rutabagas—Quiet, and in only fair demand at 35c per bu and $1.25 per bbl for northern on orders.

Parsnips—Northern scarce at $1.50@1.75 per bbl on orders.

Turnips—Demand is moderate, but offerings more than ample thereto. We quote at 30@35c per bu and $1 per bbl. Consigned lots dull and slow at 10c.

Lambs—Receipts were light but fully ample for the demand. Sales: 3½@4c per lb., the latter for selections.

Butter and Eggs.

Butter—There was a good active inquiry for the best grades of creamery and dairy. The stocks of these grades in the hands of dealers is very light, hardly sufficient to supply the wants of the local grocers and dealers. Medium and low grades continue to accumulate and there is no demand for them either locally or for shipment.

Commercial Notes.

Not so bullish.

Up to present time the "Art Club" had not been driven in.

The stock of wheat at Port Arthur is said to be about 70,000 bu.

New Orleans reports that yesterday 1,116,050 bu corn was cleared for Liverpool.

New York was freely selling both wheat and corn in this market all forenoon.

Stocks of flour and wheat at eight principal markets in Great Britain on Oct. 1 were 12,340,600 bu, against 11,383,300 bu on July 1 and 11,429,000 bu on Oct. 1, 1889.

Walla Walla wheat in Liverpool is 3c a bu higher than red winter wheat, and Walla Walla wheat in St. Louis is about 3c a bu lower than red winter wheat.

Prime's report on the condition of winter wheat is very favorable. The acreage, it says, is up to the average and the recent rains have given it a fine start.

Mallory & Son, one of the oldest live stock commission houses at the Chicago Union Stock Yards, in their monthly circular estimate the crop of hogs as 16 per cent smaller than same date last year.

The demand for wheat on the Pacific coast is slow and there exists no inquiry at all for wheat tonnage. If this is the fact with wheat so low that it can be brought to this market at a profit, how can any one look for an export trade at the Atlantic seaboard?

Dun & Co. in their business review for the week say Sept. exports of wheat from Atlantic ports were 595,259 bu against 2,223,104 bu for same month last year. For Oct. so far they are only a small part of last year's and for four days this week 163,000 against 482,000 bu. last year.

A barley dealer: "The East is now an unusually large buyer of our Western barley for brewing purposes; Canada usually sends about 13,000,000 bu over the border each year to supply Eastern brewers and the figures show that this year scarcely 2,000,000 bu have been imported. Calling it an eventual round 4,000,000, this still leaves a shortage of fully 9,000,000 to be made up from the Western granaries; again, the consumption of beer shows a large increase, which will call for several million bu of barley, and even though brewers use a substitute for this cereal to some extent, a shortage is all the same inevitable."

Cotton.

The weakness in spots everywhere continues, there being but few markets that exhibited any signs of strength. The expected decline in Liverpool spots took place to-day—1-16c, and futures were down 1 to 2 points. New Orleans and New York spots were unchanged, but futures in the former market went down 4 to 6 points, and in latter 5 to 6 points. Local spots were down 1-16c and market quiet and steady, with sales of 1,205 bales. Net receipts of 316,558 bales for last week were one of the largest week's receipts in the history of the market.

Chicago Market Letters.

Special to J. P. Grier.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—The wheat market opened active, the opening trading being at $1.04⅞ to $1.05 for Dec. The lower cables brought free selling orders on foreign account. The heavy realizing by holders caused a decline to $1.03⅝ and it closes at $1.04 and rather weak.

The market has been without any good buying; in fact, the absence of support has been the prominent feature of the day. To sustain prices we want more outside help.

Corn keeps its own well, and the country still buys it. Oats are fairly steady.

Provisions open strong, with a fair outside demand. Prices remained steady, packers feeding the market.

The movement of cash product for the week was lighter than anticipated and causes an easier feeling among local operators. Receipts—Hogs—Monday, 27,000 and for the week, 150,000.

F. G. LOGAN & CO.

Special to Ewald & Co.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Wheat—The market opened very active and weak, breaking quickly from $1.05, the nominal opening, to the neighborhood of $1.04. Early cables showed a decline of ½d to 1d, but it is reported that the weakness in Liverpool was caused by the selling of a line of wheat held in that market by a Chicago bull. Whether that is the case or not, it reacted on our market and induced the selling of several lines of long wheat which have heretofore been steadily held. Four or five prominent operators sold out, but say that they have in no wise changed their opinion, but will buy back on any further decline. Receipts in the Northwest were good and some elevator men from that section claim that they will continue large and perhaps increase. News was very scarce to-day. The visible is estimated at an increase of 750,000. The close was tame, being only supported by purchases against puts.

Corn has been very firm, fluctuating within a narrow range, in sympathy with the ups and downs of wheat.

Oats continue strong, but some of the large holders were suspected of an endeavor to sell.

Provisions were very firm, with some increase in outside buying. One of our best live stock commission houses makes their monthly estimate of the hog crop and show a decrease of 16 per cent from last year, and news comes of a large amount of hog cholera in portions of the Northwest, resulting in the covering of several lines of shorts.

CITY NEWS.

THERE is not a better display of all the new styles in millinery in the city than is now shown in Crawford's parlors. From the expensive imported bonnets and hats fit for Her Royal Highness of Wales to the more modest, but equally as tasteful head gear manufactured in Crawford's work-rooms for Americans with smaller incomes, there is everything that is desirable. In every case the price is less than that asked in competing houses. In children's goods the variety and prices are unapproachable and irreproachable.

THE BAUMAN DIVORCE CASE.

Some Interesting Testimony Taken To-Day—Civil Court Notes.

Judge Klein this morning took under advisement the divorce case of Frederick Bauman, Jr., vs. Minna O. Bauman. There wa some delay in closing the testimony owing to the inability of both sides to secure their last witnesses. One of the allegations of Mr. Bauman's bill was that his wife had associated with men of bad character and had remained away from home with such persons to unseemly hours. Mr. Andrews, the proprietor o the Hotel Belvedere, where the couple boarded up to the time of the separation, told on the stand of one night, while Mr. Bauman was out of town, on which Mrs. Bauman went to the Exposition with a man whose name has appeared in the case unpleasantly, Mr. Andrew's wife, Mrs. Mudd and others from the hotel. He said he remained up until a late hour, and though all the other members of the party returned Mrs. Bauman had not come in. The lady herself, on the stand, denied this, and said she returned to the hotel with the rest of the party. Mrs. Andrews was called in rebuttal, and was got into court after considerable difficulty. She said she saw nothing of Mrs. Bauman or her companion after they got to the Exposition. Mrs. Mudd was called on behalf of Mrs. Bauman but was not examined, as Mrs. Bauman's attorney said she had no recollection of the circumstance. The case rests between the parties on the allegation of Mrs. Bauman's intemperance, but little proo having been offered on either side in support of other charges of the bill or the cross bill.

Judge Withrow, in Division No. 3 of the St. Louis Circuit Court, to-day granted a divorce to Fred Behons from his wife Bertha. The trouble which caused the separation and divorce was the refusal of Mrs. Behons to leave her parents and cleave unto her husband. She was left in possession of their child.

Peter W. Coules who applied for a divorce from his wife, Kate, says she has been an habitual drunkard for more than one year. They were married Oct. 1, 1874, and seperated, Oct. 1, 1890. He also charges his wife with throwing untensils at his head, and reflecting on his mother's virtue. He asks for the custody of his daughter, aged 14 years and two sons, 11 and 6 years old.

Judge Dillon to-day ordered John Whelan to pay his wife's attorneys $50 and pay her $10 per week alimony. She has sued for divorce.

A TALK ABOUT TRACKS.

MR. ROBERT BONNER DISCUSSES THE PROPOSED CHANGE AT MONMOUTH.

He Does Not Think a Straightaway Track Would Prove Popular for Trotting—What He Thinks of Salvator's Performance and Sunol's Capabilities—Fitzsimmons' Delay—Base Ball and Racing News.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Mr. Robert Bonner was seen last night in regard to the statement of E. J. Baldwin of California made to a Chicago reporter that straight-mile trotting races were to be inaugurated at Monmouth Park next season, Mr. Bonner said: "That is the first I have heard of the project, and, of course, I cannot say whether there is any truth in it. It is quite probable, however. Nothing can be said at this early day of the feasibility of the scheme, but I would be inclined to doubt its success. The public patronize trotting races to see the horses trot, and with a mile straight away very little could be seen. A thoroughbred trotter in action is one of the most beautiful sights in the world, and a trotting race can only be enjoyed on the regulation oval track."

"Will you send Sunol or Maud S. for a record if the proposed track is perfected?" was asked.

"Well, yes, if it ever materializes and all conditions are right, I may send Sunol to see what she can do. But there would be little merit in such a record. I am opposed to straightaway tracks both for runners and trotters. Take the recent trial of Salvator, for instance. On his record he is over four seconds better than any other horse living or dead. Do you believe such is the case? For myself I honestly think he could not equal Tenbroeck's time on the regulation track, and I believe there are horses that can equal his (Salvator's) performance on a straightaway. The oval track is the only one for horse racing and a record made on a straightaway or 'Kite' shaped track is valueless, in my opinion."

"Why," said the genial old gentleman warming up, "there is nothing to prevent a straightaway from being outrageous downhill, and the steeper the incline the faster the time. By and by we might have a course laid down a mountain side, and my, what records we could make.

"Sunol is a wonderfully long strider, and this straight away would be just the thing for her. The regulation track is hard on such an unusual strider as she is, which puts me in mind of Dexter. They said the old horse could take the turns so well that it would be no trouble for him to trot around a wash tub."

"Mr. Bonner, the dispatch speaks about a two-minute mile. Do you believe a trotter will ever fairly travel that fast?"

"No, sir," was the emphatic reply, "that's nonsense. The fastest trotter in the world, bar none, is the filly Sunol. Why, look at her; she's only a baby just now, a mere baby. Yet, only two horses, Maud S. and Jay-Eye-See, have trotted faster. With everything turning out favorably she may get down to 2:05 or 2:06—it may be 2:04, but that is the limit of trotters' speed. I see an evening newspaper quotes me as saying: 'Sunol rushes her driver the first quarter and tries to go at least a second and a half faster in that quarter than she should; if the driver lets her have her way she becomes winded and has to quit during the last quarter or three-eighths, and if she does not have her way she is handicapped. I wish you would most emphatically deny that I ever gave utterance to such an opinion. The quotation was taken from this morning's Sun and relates to an interview on bicycle riding by my son. Sunol is anything but a quitter. Look at her mile in 2:10½, the last quarter in 31½s. Does that look like quitting? Any talk that she is a quitter is the veriest nonsense, and I want that recorded."

Stamboul goes against his record again Saturday.

Tournament's Defeat.

The defeat of Senator Hearst's great colt Tournament by Riley is thus described by the New York Tribune: Hayward went right out with Tournament as usual. Taylor on Riley had made up his mind that his only chance at the advantage in the weights was to keep as close to Tournament as possible, so both Hayward and Taylor were riding their mounts from the very start to get the lead. But Tournament's great flight of speed swiftly took him clear of Riley. Before the first furlong was finished he was a length before Riley. At the ending of the first quarter mile he was fully two lengths in the lead. Can Can was third, two lengths behind Riley; the rest were already straggling so far in the rear that it was clear they had no chance. Climbing the hill, Tournament's heavy weight began to tell and Riley steadily gained on him. At the crest of the Matterhorn Taylor called on Riley, while Tournament was near given over to despair. The colt appeared to have lost his courage and to feel that too much had been required of him in asking him to carry 130 pounds to Riley's 112. So when Taylor called on Riley at the top of the hill he dashed by Tournament in a style that made every one who saw Tournament run away from Senorita and Diablo on Saturday rub his eyes with wonder. The race was over then and there. It became a procession, and Riley drew further and further away from Tournament in the homestretch. Tournament could not even get second place, for as they came down the homestretch the immense difference in weight between Can Can and Tournament, twenty-two pounds in actual difference, told so heavily that Can Can deprived him of the place without difficulty. The limit of Tournament's powers had evidently been reached, and passed. He never saw the day when he was able to give eighteen pounds to Riley in that colt's present form, and nineteen to Can Can, in that filly's present form. But that he ran a good and creditable race was clear, from the fact that he beat off Banquet, giving him sixteen pounds, and Prince Fonso, giving him seventeen pounds. It was depressing and pathetic and saddening, to see the big fellow that has been winning so many brilliant races since he won the Omnibus Stakes, go down before animals so much inferior to him, simply because he was asked to attempt the impossible.

To-Morrow's Bicycle Runs.

Butler Lake, situated on the extreme southern end of the Tesson Ferry road, will be the objective point for the Missouri Bicycle Club's run to-morrow, and the club will be entertained at dinner at the residence of Mr. John Smith. This will be the first tour of discovery ever made over this road, and on this account the attendance promises to be large. Arrangements for every participant's comfort have been made and that each rider will have a good time goes without saying. Dick Hurck and other disciples of Isaac Walton will take their fishing lines along as the fishing is reported good at the lake. The distance is about eighteen miles and the following route will be taken: Start from club at 8:30 a. m. sharp, Pine street to Grand avenue, south to Tower Grove Park, west to center gate, thence southwest on Morgan Ford road to the Gravois road which will be followed to Afton. At this point the Tesson Ferry road begins and it will lead to the destination. Among those who will participate are: Lieut. Grath, John Hurck, Richard Hurck, Jno. Stockett, P. Kramer, W. P. Loth, Hy Lee, J. H. Borgess, S. A. Pratt, F. S. Jose, R. S. Sparr, J. W. King, M. C. Johnson, A. H. Hawkins and Robt. Holin.

Another attempt will be made to-morrow by members of the Cycling Club to break the existing record to the pump from Manchester, provided the weather is favorable, and as all the members desire to see the feat accomplished Capt. Jordan has called a short run to Clayton via the Manchester and North and South roads. Arrangements for a good dinner have been made and the afternoon will be spent in the parks.

Wheelmen who are not club members are invited to attend these runs and are requested to report at either club-house by 8:30 a. m., so as to not delay the start.

Fitzsimmons' Delay.

GALVESTON, Tex., Oct. 18.—There is a good deal of talk here about the delay of Fitzsimmons, the New Zealand fighter, in accepting the $12,200 made by the Galveston Athletic Association for a fight with Dempsey. The New Zealander has not yet accepted and Dempsey is ready. Fitzsimmons' supporters are beginning to suspect that he is afraid to meet Dempsey in a finish fight.

Foot-Ball.

The Hibernian Foot-Ball & Athletic Association will hold its annual meeting to-night at Central Turner Hall. The election of officers and other important business will be transacted.

The Washington University foot-ball team will play the team of the Missouri State University at Columbia, on Thanksgiving Day.

Won't Confer With Brunell.

The Pittsburg patrons of base ball are stil likely to be humbugged for a long time to come with the wearisome nonsense of base ball warfare says the Pittsburg Dispatch. Director J. P. O'Neill of the N. L. Club, stated yesterday that he cannot meet any committee of the P. L. Club of which Mr. Brunell is a member. Mr. O'Neill charges Mr. Brunell with not only divulging the secrets of the meeting, but with giving these secrets away painted in glowing P. L. colors. Mr. O'Neill terms this a sufficient breach of confidence to disqualify Mr. Brunell from taking part in any more business transactions of a private nature.

It is not to be expected that such a flimsy objection or assertion as the above will have any influence tending to break off the negotiations now going on toward a settlement of the base ball humbug in Pittsburg. Doubtless, influences are at work to have the matter settled any other way than ousting the old club out of the city bag and baggage without even thanking those who have spent money on the club for years for past services and sacrifices. This is so un-American and so unfair that nobody but bigots would tolerate it. Certainly the local National League Club has rights that must be respected, and if they are not, the stockholders of that club will be the rankest of cowards to give up the fight, no matter how ruinous it may be to the game generally. A few people are clamoring for a "compromise" that will sweep the old league almost entirely out of every city in which it has been for years. This is the kind of compromise demanded by those who throw discredit on every step made by people who want an honest and fair-dealing settlement. This nonsense can be terminated by the parties directly interested, and if it is not the duty of every intelligent man is to steer wide of everything of a baseball nature in Pittsburg. There is a chance now for those who have invested locally in baseball, to arrange matters so as to reap returns next year. Let these gentlemen be wise and also beware of their friends.

The local P. L. people state that Mr. Brunell is now a stockholder of their club and most assuredly will be on their Conference Committee. He has bought the interest of Mr. Addison of Chicago.

Left the Field.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 18.—The Brooklyn team walked off the field yesterday evening with a nine to nothing game to their credit on the World's championship series with the Louisvilles. There were 5,000 people to see the game, many of them having come on special trains from the neighboring towns.

AN INTERESTING PROGRAMME TO BE GIVEN TO-NIGHT AT THE EXPOSITION.

Last Evening of One of the Most Successful Seasons in the History of the Exposition—Vocal Music Will Be a Feature of the Concert—Enormous Crowd Present Last Night—Exposition Notes.

TO-NIGHT the last curtain will be rung down on the Exposition of 1890 and the great building, which has been daily visited by admiring thousands for nearly seven weeks past, will be closed to the public for a year to come. This has been one of the most successful seasons this most successful of Expositions has ever known. In fact, it has all along been nip and tuck between last year and this year in the matter of attendance and last season far exceeded any other year in the history of the great show. This year may not beat last year and possibly may fall even a little short of it, but if it does, it will be by a very narrow margin. However, whether t surpasses last season by a few thousand or falls below it a few thousand the fact must still remain that it has been a most remarkably successful year. In point of attendance it is quite certain that no season except the last can be compared with it. This speaks volumes when it is remembered from the very inception of the enterprise it has not known a single year when it has failed to clear thousands of dollars profit. The large debt with which the association started has been almost entirely wiped out. With the money made this year all the outstanding debt could be lifted, but it is the intention to expend some of the receipts in beautifying and improving Music Hall, so that it will be used more by shows during the period of the year when the Exposition is not in operation. Big companies who require large halls are on the increase in this country and this will naturally increase the demand for Music Hall. In fact the last years the hall has been used much more than ever before, and a great many attractions are already booked to appear there the coming season.

⁂

A feature of the programme this evening will be the vocal selections. Col. Gilmore has brought on two singers from the East who are to make the tour back to New York with his band, assisting in the concerts. This tour opens at Hannibal Monday afternoon, and there will be two concerts a day almost every day until Nov. 30, when the band arrives in New York. The singers whom Col. Gilmore takes with him are Miss Ida Kline, a soprano, and Mr. Edward J. O'Mahony. They are New York vocalists who sing in connection with the band concerts at Manhattan Beach during the summer months. Each will render a solo during the 9 o'clock concert and both are said to be most accomplished singers. In addition to the singing Col. Gilmore has arranged one of the most attractive programmes given by him this season. The concert will conclude with Ter Linden's "Farewell" march in which "Good-Bye, Sweetheart," "How Can I Leave Thee?" "Auld Lang Syne," and other popular melodies will be introduced. Then a number of things not on the printed programme will occur this evening, and some of them will be most interesting, too. The winner of the POST-DISPATCH contest for the best idea for the Exposition of 1891 will be announced. The Exposition of 1890 will go out in a blaze of glory.

⁂

The attendance last night was enormous. Before the first concert at 7 o'clock opened it was impossible to gain admission to the Music Hall for not only was every seat taken in the vast hall, but all the standing room as well was occupied. And there was not a vacant seat in the house until the last concert was over at 10 o'clock. For three solid hours there was an entertainment of some kind in progress in the hall. The naves were filled with people. It being difficult for one to make one's way through them. Owing to the numerous other things in the programme the scenery could not be shown. There was a presentation during the first concert of an engraved testimonial to Rev. Dr. John Matthews of St. John's M. E. Church. The testimonial was signed by the officials of the Police Department and criminal courts, and certified to Dr. Matthews' valuable services to the city while pastor of Centenary Church. Mayor Noonan was to have made the presentation speech, but his wife being too ill for him to come, Manager Galennie of the Exposition undertook the task and made a most happy impromptu address. In fact it was a gem of a speech. Dr. Matthews responded in his usual happy manner, and the hymns "Jesus Lover of My Soul" and "Nearer My God to The" were sung under the leadership of Mr. L. F. Lindsay. There was also a presentation by the Scottish clans to Col. Gilmore of a handsome satin souvenir programme of the music rendered by him on the last Scotch night. It was in a Morrocco case, and was handed to the leader by little Ethel Mildred McArthur, daughter of the well-known dry goods merchant, and Mr. J. W. Dick made the presentation speech. Mr. Robert McCash, the venerable founder of the Order of Scottish Clans, was on the stage, and attracted much attention. So were bag-pipe players and others in Highland costume, and Scotch airs were played by the band. Col. Gilmore made a neat speech in response. There will be another presentation to-night to a most popular official. The Washington University boys were present in numbers last night with kazoos and like instruments and made the night hideous with their noises. Miss Maud Pannill, a very modest young lady with a rich soprano voice, rendered a vocal solo exquisitely. She was greeted with uproarious applause, and for an encore sang "The Maid o' Dundee," in a beautiful manner. Again the applause was deafening, but the programme was long and she could give no more encores.

⁂

The programme for the concert this evening is as follows:

7 O'CLOCK.

1. Overture—"Rienzi" .... Wagner
2. Song—"I Love But Thee" .... Abt
3. Grand Selection—"Mefistofele" .... Boito

Nave Notes.

Miss Alma Y. Hickok visited the Ex. last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Harbison visited the Exposition last evening.

Dr. Warren Priest thinks the electrical display the finest in the building.

F. W. Bielock has an artistic eye and spends much time among the pictures.

Louis Lawnin is among the steadiest patrons and regrets the close of the season.

Dr. John A. Keber appreciates Gilmore and the Ex. and gets there nearly every night.

Mr. Charles T. Clark says the POST-DISPATCH press is the greatest attraction at the Exposition.

Capt. Ed Spieckerman admires the ECHOES vastly. He makes a dash for is every evening on his way from Park avenue to the first concert. He's a regular, and openly bemoans that "there's only a few of them left."

Mark Leavenworth wishes the Exposition management would keep the show open for forty days more.

Gilmore and the larger part of the band will start upon a tour of the cities between here and New York, playing concert engagements.

Chief Lindsay visits the old hand fire engine on the west side very often and then goes away feeling proud of the Fire Department.

The receipts at the Exposition the day President and Mrs. Cleveland were there were over $2,000 ahead of the receipts on the day of President Harrison's visit.

Some people talk of using their influence to have B. Nugent & Bro. fix up a place in their dry goods palace for their ingenious ship display. They say it would be a shame to destroy so beautiful an object.

The St. Louis Exposition has been visited by two Presidents of the United States, by the only other living man who has sat in the chair and the only living ex-Vice-President of the United States has been in the building.

To-night will be the last opportunity to view the A. Siegel Gas Fixture Co. display. It is the most beautiful and artistic exhibit of the kind ever made, and contains all the latest novelties in gas and electric fixtures.

Gilmore has a life engagement at Coney Island for the summer season, what amounts to a life engagement at the St. Louis Exposition for the fall season and can have concert dates in any town in America whenever he wants them.

Charles H. Banks, the handsome Virginia man who has attended the Ex. every night, came to the ECHOES last night to say good-bye. He leaves for Virginia to-night and says the Exposition of St. Louis is the grandest show of the earth and the ECHOES press the biggest and most wonderful machinery in the world.

What folly it would be to cut grass with a pair of scissors! Yet people do equally silly things every day. Modern progress has grown up from the hooked sickle to the swinging scythe and thence to the lawn mower. So don't use scissors!

But do you use SAPOLIO? If you don't you are as much behind the age as if you cut grass with a dinner knife. Once there were no soaps. Then one soap served all purposes. Now the sensible folks use one soap in the toilet, another in the tub, one soap in the stables, and SAPOLIO for all scouring and house-cleaning.
